

The Divine Series (Michael Faust)

The God Within Me (The Divine Series, #1) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 201-213 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 15:20:56

Consider these remarks by theoretical physicist David Bohm:” [The growth of a living plant] starts from a seed, but the seed contributes little or nothing to the actual material substance of the plant or to the energy needed to make it grow. This latter comes almost entirely from the soil, the water, the air and the sunlight. According to modern theories the seed contains information, in the form of DNA, and this information somehow ‘directs’ the environment to form a corresponding plant.” Think of the even more remarkable way in which an egg and a sperm cell from a human mother and father combine to make a blueprint for creating a potential Leonardo da Vinci from the food and drink consumed by a mother during her pregnancy. If that is not a supreme miracle that far transcends scientific knowledge then what is? A human being is literally a means of organizing the constituents of food and drink so that they can think and talk. You put food and drink in through a hole (the mouth), and words expressing consciousness and intelligence are the inevitable output from that same hole. If that does not point to a realm of divine wonders, what does?

- Your Note at location 394 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 15:48:12

Are they referring to the Riemann Sphere, or some other projection?

- Your Highlight at location 390-394 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 15:48:12

Another example of the implicate order is a circle, which can be shown to be equivalent to a straight line with a “point at infinity”. The two points of infinity that exist at either end of an infinitely extended straight line become a single point of infinity in a circle: two infinities have been enfolded into one. Any circle can therefore be thought of as a representation of an infinite line: it is a compressed, enfolded, finite version of infinity.

- Your Highlight at location 537-552 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 16:17:45

Because quantum particles are associated with wave behaviour, Fourier mathematics is integral to quantum mechanics. As we have indicated, it’s a feature of Fourier transforms that, to be entirely accurate, they need to be analysed over an infinite time (once again we see the critical role played by the concept of infinity). Since this is impossible then all transforms will reflect a degree of uncertainty, normally negligible and undetectable in the everyday world. It transpires that a particle’s momentum (related to its energy, which in turn is related to a frequency distribution given the relationship of energy to frequency) is the Fourier transform of its position

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

and any attempt to increase the certainty in the measurement of one quantity automatically leads to less certainty in the measurement of the other. In the extremely improbable case that a particle's position is known with complete certainty, its momentum (its Fourier transform) is completely uncertain and so the particle could end up anywhere the next instant. This is the famous Heisenberg Uncertainty Principle which states that we cannot simultaneously know a particle's position and momentum with complete precision. This principle is critical to quantum mechanics and shows how deeply embedded in reality Fourier transforms are. If a particle's momentum were a 100% accurate Fourier transform of its position, then there would be no quantum effects at all. It is precisely because of uncertainty that the quantum world is as strange as it is.

- Your Highlight at location 656-668 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 22:01:53

The  $r = 0$  domain is the “enfolding” aspect of existence, the “inside” of things that contains the meaning of life. The  $r > 0$  domain is the unfolded aspect of existence, the outside of things, the cold, sterile, lifeless scientific aspect. The enfolding domain is omnipresent within the unfolded domain. This has the effect of putting the Mind of God inside everything. Every part of the universe contains the whole of the Mind of God, and the whole of the Mind of God contains every part of the universe. That is the final answer to the riddle of existence. All of humanity's greatest and noblest aspirations reside in this single incredible Truth. There is nothing mystical, bizarre or impossible about becoming God. It is the essential nature of the universe to allow this magical evolution to take place. It is how the universe is designed. It is guaranteed by the core logic of existence.

- Your Highlight at location 697-700 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 22:04:36

The purpose of the Abrahamic faiths is to prevent enlightenment. These faiths are the absolute enemies of knowledge. They promote faith as a means of preventing human beings from ever realizing their divine potential.

- Your Highlight at location 721-730 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 22:16:04

Never let anyone tell you that you are bad, a sinner, weak, unworthy, wretched and depraved, in need of Jesus, Moses or Mohammed. You need no one except yourself. You need no faith. It's knowledge that will deliver you. Never let anyone threaten you with hellfire for disagreeing with them. Never let anyone bully you and intimidate you. Never let them put you down, relegate you to second-class citizen, make you a slave. Humanity can be great and fulfil its mission only when every human sees God in every other human. You would never dream of treating God badly, would you, so

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

nor you would you treat your neighbour badly if you saw the God within them.

- Your Highlight at location 789-790 | Added on Tuesday, 7 May 2024 22:19:36

Let's not shy away from the truth: the excessively rich are pure evil. They have no redeeming qualities at all.

- Your Note at location 1190 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 14:00:15

Again, this reminds me of Carlos Castaneda's don Juan's notion of 'sweeping the Island of the Tonal' by cultivating a well-honed 'warrior spirit', eliminating from everyday life all wasteful triva that hold one back from becoming a full-fledged 'man of knowledge'.

- Your Highlight at location 1187-1190 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 14:00:15

The more we illuminate our unconscious mind, the closer we get to God. If we could illuminate our entire unconscious we would become God. Gnosis is defined as the point of "no return": our human consciousness has expanded to the point at which, in one wondrous instant, we suddenly "get it", we get everything.

- Your Highlight at location 1208-1212 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 14:04:08

That book has already been written. It comes with three names: the Torah, the Bible, the Koran. It is the Word of Satan. You could not be further removed from enlightenment if you fall under the spell of the Demiurge's magnum opus, the Book of Lies.

- Your Highlight at location 1595-1601 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 15:10:57

If we do then there is no room for any sort of enshrined Elite, laden with privilege. Everyone on earth has to be given a proper chance to rise as high as their natural abilities can take them. For that to be possible, the whole panoply of privilege in which our world has been disastrously enmeshed must be abolished. There must be an unprecedented redistribution of wealth from the Elite to the people, and no one ever again should be allowed to commandeer disproportionate assets. That is the gospel of the Illuminati, of meritocracy.

- Your Highlight at location 1856-1859 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 15:46:57

The Illuminati predominantly recruit dominant introverts: intellectuals obsessed with unlocking the secrets of the universe and understanding the mind of God. The Illuminati are spiritual, anti-materialistic and utterly opposed to the cult of the rich. We seek the overthrow of the entire value system created by the Elite.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 2049-2053 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 15:59:25

A society of gods is a society of justice, fairness, equality, creativity and perfect spirituality that has no ruling Elite, and no need of one. Can you see any such society on this earth of ours at the present time? Yet we can build it. That is the agenda and objective of the Illuminati.

- Your Highlight at location 2926-2931 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 21:04:19

Another way to visualize it is in terms of the Riemann sphere relating a 2-D plane to a sphere. The South Pole is zero, the North Pole is infinity, the surface of the sphere is the  $r = 0$  domain and the interior is the  $r > 0$  domain. So, the material universe is a sphere bounded and permeated by mind. If the sphere is flipped over, infinity and zero swap places.

- Your Highlight at location 2947-2950 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 21:06:24

This is the wisdom of the Illuminati, revealed by a combination of reason, the guidance of the Phosters (the divine Illuminators), and the experience of gnosis by the ten greatest Grand Masters of the Illuminati: Solomon, Pythagoras, Heraclitus, Empedocles, Hypatia, Leibniz, Weishaupt, Goethe, Hegel, and, above all, Simon Magus, the true Christ.

- Your Note at location 3106 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 21:16:48

These PI books give a lot of theory but they're rather light on practical advice and techniques for accessing the  $r=0$  domain.

- Your Highlight at location 3103-3106 | Added on Wednesday, 8 May 2024 21:16:48

When we train ourselves, that is “local” training. When we are helped by the prior training of others anywhere in the world, that is “non-local” training. Non-local training does not happen via the laws of the  $r > 0$  domain, but those of the  $r = 0$  domain.

- Your Highlight at location 4289-4293 | Added on Thursday, 9 May 2024 11:57:17

The Illuminatus François de Nomé painted a number of remarkable and striking coded paintings, which can be viewed here: http://www.artchive.com/web\_gallery/F/Francois-de-Nome-%28Monsu,-Desiderio%29/Francois-de-Nome-%28Monsu,-Desiderio%29-reproductions-1.html.

The Right-Brain God (The Divine Series, #2) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 167-181 | Added on Thursday, 13 June 2024 23:15:37

Soul contact, even for those who know the right protocol, is still the most challenging and difficult activity to undertake. There are no guarantees. Each of us is on a personal journey. Each of us has our own monsters to face, our own demons to confront, our own trials and tribulations to overcome. It's a fact that most of those who embark on the quest for the Holy Grail fail. So there's no point in making any promises to anyone. Saying the magic words, "I believe" won't solve your problems, despite what Christians say. The world is far more complicated than that. You can be steered in the right direction, that's all. The rest is up to you. You can't leave it to God to bestow "grace" upon you. There's no divine intervention. Anyone who says differently is a liar. So will you be one of the rare few who can enjoy the infinite good fortune of being able to make full soul contact, the greatest experience of all?

- Your Highlight at location 532-533 | Added on Friday, 14 June 2024 23:35:25

Those who might speculate that the Illuminati's path to enlightenment is concerned with gaining reliable and consistent access to just this sort of inner voice of wisdom, of command and revelation that features in Jaynes's theory would certainly be on the right track.

- Your Highlight at location 643-646 | Added on Friday, 14 June 2024 23:44:03

Richard Dawkins, of all people, provides an excellent demonstration of teleology at work in evolution: <http://home.pacbell.net/s-max/scott/weasel.html>.

- Your Highlight at location 1150-1151 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 14:08:28

The world has never been in bigger trouble than it is now. Junk memes are everywhere while good memes are rapidly dying off, their place in the meme pool being taken by trivial nonsense.

- Your Highlight at location 1358-1362 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 14:24:03

Those of us who want to encounter our higher selves must learn the techniques to break through to this mysterious, hidden world. That, fundamentally, is what the Illuminati's religion of Illumination is all about. The Illuminati seek unio mystica—the mysterious, transcendent union with God.

- Your Highlight at location 1368-1369 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 14:46:21

Members of the Illuminati made contact with Jung, but deemed him too eccentric to be formally recruited, though they did help him with some of

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

his ideas and steer him in productive directions, and they in their turn learned much from this inspired man.

- Your Highlight at location 1460-1464 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 14:58:03

The story of Faust is also a coded reference to the greatest and most special of all the Illuminati's Grand Masters—the illustrious Simon Magus. If the world had turned out well, Simon Magus would now hold the position in history that has been assigned instead to Yehoshua ben Yosef, the man better known to history as Jesus Christ.

- Your Bookmark at location 1477 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 14:59:42

- Your Note at location 1505 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 15:02:28

Reminiscent of the Biblical story of Job, whom 'God' allowed the Devil to tempt and abuse.

- Your Highlight at location 1504-1505 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 15:02:29

God accepts the challenge, since he considers that Faust, even in his moments of darkest despair, will still recognise the path of righteousness, and he grants Mephistopheles permission to tempt Faust.

- Your Highlight at location 1593-1596 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 23:14:23

The search for the Grail is not a task to which you decide to allocate a few months before growing bored and moving onto something else. Rather, it's the very essence and purpose of your life. Only when you have understood this do you stand any chance of success in your quest for the Grail.)

- Your Highlight at location 1619-1626 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 23:17:40

The elusiveness of the Grail is due to the simplest reason of all—the selfish can never possess it, and most people are incapable of overcoming their selfishness. The Grail will always remain hidden from those who seek it as an end in itself rather than as an instrument to bring divine gifts to all of humanity. People should have two objectives—to perfect themselves and perfect the community of which they are part. The vast majority of people fail in both regards. They simply want to glorify themselves and gain power over others.

- Your Highlight at location 1683-1685 | Added on Monday, 17 June 2024 23:27:29

All means of accessing the higher self are invariably double-edged, and the greatest caution must always be exercised for fear of producing the opposite of the desired outcome.

- Your Highlight at location 1782-1785 | Added on Tuesday, 18 June 2024 23:27:49

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Heinrich Cornelius Agrippa, a contemporary of Dr Faust, also supplied inspiration for Goethe's fictitious Faust. Agrippa, the "Prince of Magicians", often described as the founding father of occult philosophy, was a secret Illuminatus. He was accompanied everywhere by a black dog, which was regarded by his enemies as his "familiar".

- Your Highlight at location 1786-1797 | Added on Tuesday, 18 June 2024 23:28:04

Simon Magus, who lived at the same time as Jesus Christ, often used the name Faustus—the "favoured one". His beautiful lover was Helena, a Greek prostitute whom the Magus said was the reincarnation of Helen of Troy. Like Christ, Simon Magus was associated with many miracles such as healing the sick, raising the dead, flying, making himself invisible, walking through fire, feeding thousands from stones that he turned into loaves of bread, making trees bear fruit at any time of the year, creating great illusions such as phantom banquets, shape-shifting, bringing statues to life, controlling demons and creating living human beings. To learn the secrets of Christianity, he was baptised as a Christian, but he soon discovered the corruption and deceit that lay at the heart of that accursed religion. To show his contempt, he offered to buy the secrets of Christianity (indicating that he considered them mere tricks that could be purchased in the marketplace like anything else). This is the origin of the word simony—buying religious favours, powers, benefits, artefacts or knowledge.

- Your Highlight at location 1889-1905 | Added on Tuesday, 18 June 2024 23:35:33

The triumph of the Old World Order is already close to completion. What we see all around us is their vision of how things should be. Capitalist democracy—the "freedom" to shop, the opportunity to lavish your free time on mind-numbing garbage, the "freedom" to elect carefully chosen candidates who promise to give you more of what you've been brainwashed into thinking you want—is what underpins their Satanic control. They need no soldiers, microchips in the head, concentration camps or whatever other paranoid fantasies are summoned up by crazed conspiracy theorists, to control the people. They understand the great and simple secret of how to manipulate the masses: give them a tedious job to occupy them for most of the week, then endless ways to fritter away the time they have when they're not at work. Result?—a zombie population, docile, blinded by glitter and bling, with neither the ability nor motivation to resist. "Shall we start a Revolution?" we say. "No, we'd rather watch American Idol and eat popcorn, thank you very much," they reply. That's the world of today.

- Your Highlight at location 2248-2260 | Added on Wednesday, 19 June 2024 21:41:50

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

No one's coming to save the world. Not Jesus Christ, not anyone. If the world is to be saved then it's our responsibility, no one else's. The very act of believing in a Saviour is a disgrace. It's cowardice and laziness, an abdication of our personal obligations. The logic of our central theme of "becoming God" is that each of us has to don the divine mantle. Salvation is our business, not someone else's. It's time to be active, not passive. It's time to make things happen; not sit back and wait for others. It's time to create our own "Rapture", not pray to someone else to make it happen. We have to stop being alienated from our divine spark. It's time to burnish it and let it illuminate the world.

- Your Note at location 2518 | Added on Wednesday, 19 June 2024 22:05:31

Nietzsche's amorism was based on the idea that the only possible source of morals & values was an illusory god, and the realisation of his non-existence the cause of his 'death'. However, did he never consider that the Golden Rule flows naturally from both the idea that we all have equal rights, that we all come from the same unity, and that, pragmatically, the world is a more liveable place for everyone if we all abide by the common law maxim of 'do no harm'?

- Your Highlight at location 2517-2518 | Added on Wednesday, 19 June 2024 22:05:31

Only as an immoralist or amoralist can an atheist be taken seriously. If atheists are Christians without Christ, as most of them are in moral terms, then they are a joke.

- Your Highlight at location 2869-2874 | Added on Wednesday, 19 June 2024 22:32:02

One of the most remarkable members of the Illuminati was the British visionary painter and poet William Blake, a man whose modern status as a genius was sadly absent during his own lifetime when he was commonly regarded as an eccentric crank with little talent. Blake became obsessed with the Illuminati's task of creating his own religion and ended up devoting most of his life to it, inventing a rich and highly complex personal mythology. The Illuminati still refer to it to this day as perhaps the most vivid and inspirational attempt to create a new religion.

- Your Highlight at location 2946-2949 | Added on Saturday, 22 June 2024 22:42:18

He [William Blake] was a supremely anti-establishment figure who hated all authority figures. (He also, it has to be admitted, had a difficult relationship with the leadership of the Illuminati. He was not a regular participant at Illuminati meetings and came to believe that his visionary gift was so strong that he did not need anyone's help to harness it.)

- Your Bookmark at location 3468 | Added on Sunday, 23 June 2024 22:31:21

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 3997-3998 | Added on Monday, 24 June 2024 22:30:11

Because it is a dialectical religion, Illuminism is full of apparent contradictions, all of which are progressively resolved as Illuminists advance further along the path of knowledge.

- Your Note at location 4027 | Added on Monday, 24 June 2024 22:36:03

It puzzles me that the PI can talk about the power elite but then pour scorn on the OWO's various plans for world domination, calling it mad conspiracy theory. Makes no sense to me.

- Your Highlight at location 4022-4027 | Added on Monday, 24 June 2024 22:36:03

Stargates, chem-trails, plans to exterminate half the world's population and enslave the rest, sinister schemes to place microchips in everyone's heads and create a diabolical, tyrannical one world dictatorship with a single currency (not based on the dollar—horror of horrors!), and all of it somehow orchestrated by the evil shadow government run by the “Jewish” Illuminati. Wake up! It's absolute garbage. It's quite literally mad.

- Your Highlight at location 4055-4063 | Added on Monday, 24 June 2024 22:37:31

IN THE ILLUMINATI'S Second Degree, the task of initiates is the dialectical opposite of the one they were given in the First Degree. They must now devise an “anti-religion”—a way of living that celebrates life while rejecting any notion of the supernatural or the divine. How can you live life fully and gloriously as a mortal doomed to inevitable annihilation? How can you give your life meaning in an uncaring, pointless universe? How can you devise a moral code in a universe where there is no infallible moral authority? How can you live without anxiety? How can you avoid nihilism?

- Your Highlight at location 3962-3965 | Added on Monday, 24 June 2024 22:38:16

The Illuminati's “Creation Myth” is revealed to First Degree initiates of the Illuminati, and they are subsequently asked to devise their own new religion (what better task for those seeking to “become God”?). Those who, many months (or even years) later, succeed in graduating to the Second Degree are greeted by the Grand Master who makes a simple and stunning revelation.

- Your Highlight at location 4121-4125 | Added on Monday, 24 June 2024 22:41:52

Nietzsche was not a member of the Illuminati but his philosophy was immensely admired by the Illuminati and intersected with Illuminism in numerous ways. It was often used as an example to Second Degree Illuminists of how to construct an inspiring way of life that did not have any reliance on any God. The Illuminati never got the chance to recruit

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Nietzsche: he went insane just before the Illuminati planned to introduce themselves to him.

- Your Highlight at location 4163-4170 | Added on Tuesday, 25 June 2024 22:38:12

People will use denial, projection, repression, displacement, transference, dissociation, narcissism, regression, suppression etc to protect themselves from harsh truths. If their identity has become fused with a lie then there is virtually no truth on earth that can release them because to confront the truth would be to abandon their identity. And without an identity you are no longer human. You are nothing. It will never be truth that frees humanity, but methods of shaping new identities, liberated from the failed identities of old. We need to revalue all values and introduce new identities based on those new values.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Nietzsche: The God of Groundhog Day (The Divine Series, #3) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 1128-1132 | Added on Saturday, 8 June 2024 00:31:35

One of the greatest errors of Western philosophy was to set up Reason and Desire (Mind and Body) in opposition. In fact, there's no realm of "Pure Reason." Reason is the pragmatic tool humankind uses to further the ends of its desires. It has no independent existence.

- Your Highlight at location 2200-2219 | Added on Sunday, 9 June 2024 23:11:07

A simple test can be applied to young children to see if they have developed Theory of Mind. You hold up a tube of Smarties and ask a child what they think is inside. Naturally, they say Smarties. You then remove the lid and reveal that the tube is in fact full of chocolate raisins. You replace the lid and ask the child what their best friend, who is waiting in the next room, would say was in the tube, dutifully pointing out that the other child has not seen you removing the lid and showing the true contents of the tube. Up to the age of about four or five the child will give 'Chocolate raisins' as the answer. Remarkably, if you ask the original child what they thought the tube of Smarties contained when you first showed it to them they will now say, "Chocolate raisins." It's as if they've completely forgotten their original answer. The child cannot yet grasp the concept of false beliefs. Because they now know that the Smarties tube is full of chocolate raisins they think everyone else must know that and that they themselves must have known it all along too.

- Your Note at location 2773 | Added on Tuesday, 11 June 2024 23:34:05

This, taken with the passage that follows rather suggests that 'Michael Faust' is a published author, possibly under his real name.

- Your Highlight at location 2770-2773 | Added on Tuesday, 11 June 2024 23:34:05

I was chatting to one of the UK's top agents not so long ago and he remarked, echoing William Goldman's famous remark concerning Hollywood, that no one knows anything about books. I thought this was an amazing assertion from a highly successful professional in the industry.

- Your Note at location 2925 | Added on Tuesday, 11 June 2024 23:45:56

Look into these names—are they authors, literary agents or literary critics?

- Your Highlight at location 2920-2925 | Added on Tuesday, 11 June 2024 23:45:56

Question—is Joyce Carol Oates today's ultimate Pythia? Perhaps Anne Tyler. Surely Toni Morrison can stake a claim? After all, she has the Nobel Prize for her oracular outpourings. What about a male Pythia? What about Don DeLillo?

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The Genesis of God (The Divine Series, #4) (Michael Faust)

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Hegel: The Man Who Would Be God (The Divine Series, #5) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 236-242 | Added on Tuesday, 21 May 2024 23:37:05

Magee is also in a select group of Hegel scholars to suggest a direct connection between Hegel and the Illuminati. He says, "...Hegel was frequenting the company of known Masons, some of them graduates of the banned Illuminati." Also, "Most of the Illuminati were also Masons. Jacques D'Hondt in his Hegel Secrets provides a fascinating discussion of the influence of the Enlightenment ideals and terminology of the Illuminati on the young Hegel."

- Your Highlight at location 250-252 | Added on Tuesday, 21 May 2024 23:38:17

Hegel succeeded Weishaupt as Grand Master of the Illuminati in 1830, but died within a year. Goethe, an old man, then assumed the role, but more in an honorary capacity due to his frailty. He died within a matter of months.

- Your Highlight at location 324-326 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:03:07

It was Goethe who first introduced Hegel to the Illuminati under the Grand Mastership of Adam Weishaupt. The Grand Master was quick to recognize Hegel's genius and gave him a suitably grand task: to express the ideas of Illumination—the religion of the Illuminati—in the most up-to-date philosophical language.

- Your Highlight at location 462-463 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:11:58

The Illuminati's objective is for individuals to perfect themselves, and then to come together to form a sublime, transcendent community: new humanity, a New World Order.

- Your Highlight at location 485-487 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:13:47

The Illuminati's doctrine of the Double Holos—a perfect, whole individual within a perfect, whole community.

- Your Highlight at location 492-493 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:15:05

Hegel was a keen student of a previous, controversial Grand Master of the Illuminati: Joachim of Fiore (1135—1202), the great mystic whose ideas spawned many heretical movements that challenged the power of the Catholic Church.

- Your Highlight at location 502-503 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:15:22

"The Age of the Holy Spirit" is Illuminati code for the triumph of Gnosticism over Judaism and Christianity.

- Your Highlight at location 511-513 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:16:48

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The family is the essence of the Old World Order. Until the family is placed in a new context, humanity will be trapped forever in the Old World Order's web: food for the greediest of spiders.

- Your Highlight at location 625-627 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:22:53

According to the oral tradition of Kabbalah, the reason for existence is that "God wished to behold God." He caused a void to appear in which the mirror of existence was placed.

- Your Highlight at location 682-685 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:26:25

People who can't see beyond Aristotelian logic will never understand Illuminism. In the world of dialectics—of becoming—none of Russell's three laws of thought truly apply. They are black and white limits whereas "becoming" is concerned with shades of grey.

- Your Highlight at location 702-703 | Added on Wednesday, 22 May 2024 23:27:30

So, please, to all those people who comb our work looking for contradictions, why don't you do yourself a favour and try to tune into the higher logic of becoming, the logic of dialectics?

- Your Highlight at location 769-773 | Added on Thursday, 23 May 2024 14:38:23

The Hegelian Dialectic, the Scientific Method and Teleological Evolution (i.e. purposeful rather than random evolution) are all basically the same thing. They are the core method for understanding the universe and any religion or philosophy that does not embrace them is false. Non-teleological scientific evolutionary theory is incomplete, and can only be completed when teleology is factored in.

- Your Highlight at location 808-814 | Added on Thursday, 23 May 2024 14:48:18

"A" and "Not-A", the core of Aristotelian binary logic, do not exist as far as the dialectic is concerned. They are illusory snapshots that, in reality, are always flowing into one another. Only "Dialectical A", the core of Hegelian logic, really exists, embracing both "A" and "Not-A". "Dialectical A" reaches an end-point of "Omega A" in which all contradictions are dialectically resolved, in which its true and absolute nature is fully revealed. Before that, only partial truths and approximations can ever be glimpsed.

- Your Bookmark at location 931 | Added on Thursday, 23 May 2024 15:19:26

- Your Highlight at location 1078-1081 | Added on Thursday, 23 May 2024 23:34:42

Thus it is with a monad. If it allows its store of mental energy to escape from dimensionless existence in any way at all then it creates dimensional

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

existence: energy that exists in space and time and from which physical particles can be made.

- Your Highlight at location 1088-1091 | Added on Thursday, 23 May 2024 23:35:50

It cannot be emphasized enough that mind must create something that seems to be non-mind if it is to come to a full understanding of itself. If mind had only itself to contemplate it could never escape abstraction. It could never become real and concrete in any meaningful sense.

- Your Highlight at location 1222-1240 | Added on Friday, 24 May 2024 23:23:09

The universe becomes self-conscious, self-thinking thought: the Mind of God. God is not independent of the universe: he is the universe. He is the self-developed self-consciousness of existence, the maximum expression and actualization of the universe's original potential. God is not identical with the universe (the philosophical position known as pantheism—"all is God"). Rather, he is the supreme Gestalt. He is greater than the sum of the parts, just as a human being is greater than all of the atoms of which he is composed. This is the philosophical position known as panentheism—"all is in God". <http://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/gestalt> provides the following definition of gestalt: A collection of physical, biological, psychological or symbolic entities that creates a unified concept, configuration or pattern which is greater than the sum of its parts (of a character, personality, or being). The True God—Abraxas—is the collection of all the things of the universe brought to a single, self-conscious, knowing culmination greater than the sum of its parts. Every part reflects the whole, but only the Whole is the Whole, and only in the Whole does ultimate truth reside. The Truth of the universe and existence is Abraxas, the God that evolved from complete abstract potential to supreme cosmic perfection and actualization.

- Your Highlight at location 1247-1274 | Added on Friday, 24 May 2024 23:29:38

For a thinking subject to truly know its object, there must, finally, be an identity between the two. If subjects and objects belonged to two different substances how could they ever interact, how could subject ever "know" object in any meaningful sense? There are only two ways to go. You can buy Kant's model which says that there are minds that, somehow, construct reality on the basis of unknowable noumena—things in themselves, things as they exist independently of mind—that may themselves be the things from which minds are ultimately constructed, although we could never know this since noumena are unknowable by mind by definition. With Kant, you have an unbridgeable gap in our ability to know all the answers of existence. The connection of subjects to objects is extremely problematic since objects are turned into constructs of the mind based on underlying

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

“real” objects that can never be known i.e. we now have two classes of objects: mind constructed objects, and the true, indefinable objects underpinning them. There is no attempt to explain why the universe should be configured this way. It seems to defy Occam’s Razor. Why have two substances if you can get by with one? With Descartes, there was an unfathomable connection between mind and matter. With Kant there is an unfathomable connection between phenomena and noumena. All dualistic systems suffer from this catastrophic inability to account for how two different substances can possibly interact. Scientific materialism addresses this problem by abolishing the mind as a separate substance. It now becomes some mysterious by-product of matter. Idealism does the opposite and abolishes matter as being independent of mind. So, what are you going to opt for: matter or mind? Your choice. Hegel solved the problem of dualism by abolishing noumena and abolishing matter. In Hegel’s philosophy, all is mind. Matter is mind that doesn’t know it is mind. It’s “extended” mind.

- Your Highlight at location 1468-1477 | Added on Sunday, 26 May 2024 23:48:36

In Hegel’s philosophy, God must create the physical universe. It is an inescapable step on his path to maximum actualization. The physical world is a mirror in which the Universal mind can contemplate itself. Absolute Mind (God fully actualized) attains Absolute Knowledge of form and content. The universe goes from bare mind to the Absolute Idea (God in himself) to Nature (God outside himself) to Absolute Mind (God fully actualized).

- Your Highlight at location 1598-1604 | Added on Monday, 27 May 2024 00:00:10

Evil is a by-product of consciousness. In fact, it can be specified more exactly: evil is possible only in the presence of Theory of Mind. Theory of Mind is our ability to attribute a separate mind to other people: to know that they have different, thoughts, plans, desires, hopes, dreams, mental states, beliefs, knowledge etc. from ourselves. This may seem like a statement of the mind-bogglingly obvious but in fact it’s an extraordinary ability to possess, the very essence of being human. We cannot interact meaningfully with others if we lack Theory of Mind.

- Your Highlight at location 1613-1614 | Added on Monday, 27 May 2024 23:34:01

In other words, Theory of Mind is the basis of deceit: you could not lie without this understanding of how human minds work.

- Your Highlight at location 1833-1844 | Added on Tuesday, 28 May 2024 23:41:06

Absolute Mind externalises itself as individual minds (objectified in the form of physical brains); it becomes self-conscious through the activity of these

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

minds and through human self-consciousness in particular. Hegel, to show the connection between humanity and God, presents us as being the vessels of God's actual consciousness (at least in the context of the finest philosophers such as himself). It has been said that his philosophy amounts to a claim that he himself was the culmination of history and evolution i.e. his philosophy literally expressed the Mind of God for the very first time. In the thoughts of Hegel, the Absolute Spirit becomes self-conscious for the first time ever. Absolute Knowledge is attained for the first time. His philosophy literally explains everything. He himself is God. Of course, Hegel is seeking to illustrate the point that we can become God.

- Your Highlight at location 1871-1872 | Added on Tuesday, 28 May 2024 23:44:49

"God is God only so far as he knows himself; his self-knowledge is, further, a self-consciousness in man and man's knowledge of God, which proceeds to man's self-knowledge in God."—Hegel

- Your Note at location 1883 | Added on Tuesday, 28 May 2024 23:46:56

Again, Faust advocates meditation as a technique for promoting gnosis, whereas Hockney decries it.

- Your Highlight at location 1878-1883 | Added on Tuesday, 28 May 2024 23:46:56

But gnosis can also be attained through an intuitive process, of listening to the thoughts of God in which the whole universe is immersed. It is about opening your mind, expanding your consciousness, delving into the Unknown Country of the deep unconscious. Meditation, drugs, ritual, dreams, creativity and esoteric knowledge, can all help you to make a decisive breakthrough.

- Your Highlight at location 2018-2023 | Added on Wednesday, 29 May 2024 23:01:40

In a sense we are engaged in a war between two versions of the dialectic: the positive and the negative. We might even label them as good and evil, as Godly and Satanic. We can only become everything we have it in ourselves to be if we choose the positive dialectic over the negative. We must go up rather than down, forward rather than backward. It's our choice.

- Your Highlight at location 2056-2057 | Added on Wednesday, 29 May 2024 23:03:51

The Athenians who invented democracy would find contemporary democracy incomprehensible. They would view it as an oligarchy seeking the support of the masses.

- Your Highlight at location 2066-2067 | Added on Wednesday, 29 May 2024 23:04:04

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

American democracy is actually a disguised plutocracy—rule by the rich.

- Your Highlight at location 2320-2328 | Added on Thursday, 30 May 2024 23:28:44

It was imperative for unextended mind to become extended (i.e. for the physical universe to come into existence). Only by allowing thought to have as its object something that seemed alien to thought could thought maximize its potential. If the physical universe didn't exist, thought would dialectically reach an endpoint of abstract thought, but this would be inferior to "concrete" thought. Only the universe, exactly as it is, permits the maximum unfolding of the dialectic. There is no other possibility that could allow the dialectic to reach a higher stage. Therefore, this is the perfect, complete, and inevitable universe, the only conceivable outcome of the dialectical evolution of the existence.

- Your Highlight at location 2361-2365 | Added on Thursday, 30 May 2024 23:35:05

As the quality of the people rises, so does the quality of the state. Any force that holds back the progress of the people must be overcome. Liberal democracy is the main roadblock to the next stage of human evolution. It prevents ordinary people from attaining the highest quality of which they are capable. It is designed to pander to a rich Elite.

- Your Highlight at location 2810-2811 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 00:03:15

Capitalism is all about serving the interests of the masters while democracy is all about pretending to the slaves that they can change things. They can't.

- Your Note at location 2873 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:30:10

Oh dear. I've spent much of this evening watching exactly this kind of dross. Not because I particularly want to but because my partner watches it, and I watch it with her as a kind of substitute for common interest. [Eve of my 67th birthday]

- Your Highlight at location 2871-2873 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:30:11

A nation full of stupid, untalented people has stupid, untalented tastes. They love popcorn movies, Reality TV, game shows, chat shows, sitcoms, hospital, legal and crime dramas and all the rest of the dross that is shown 24/7.

- Your Highlight at location 2880-2885 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:31:59

Communism and capitalism are both catastrophic. Marx's dialectical analysis was wrong. Communism is not the inevitable victor over capitalism. Communism is the equal and opposite pole of capitalism, and just as bad. Extremes of equality and inequality are equally damaging.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 2930-2933 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:40:08

The dialectic that propels history has already destroyed communism, the slave ideology. Now it will turn its attention to the disaster of capitalism, the master ideology. Ultimately, slaves will become their own masters and masters their own slaves, and thereby all distinctions between master and slave will be negated.

- Your Note at location 2954 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:45:03

Would there not still be a requirement for leaders, managers, visionaries & designers?

- Your Highlight at location 2950-2955 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:45:03

Meritocracy advocates collaborative groups of talented individuals, each with valuable expertise. In a world of skilled people there would be no bosses and no workers. If, for some reason, a figurehead were required, that person would be appointed under the principle of primus inter pares—first amongst equals.

- Your Highlight at location 3007-3009 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:50:23

Hegel identified the central axis of history as freedom. He said, “The history of the world is none other than the progress of the consciousness of freedom.”

- Your Highlight at location 3014-3019 | Added on Friday, 31 May 2024 23:51:30

At the moment, the vast majority of us have no authentic freedom. The system is set up to serve the interests of the Old World Order. They are free; the rest of us are deluding ourselves. The OWO’s genius is to give us the illusion of freedom, while withholding true freedom. History will not reach its telos until superficial freedom is replaced by genuine freedom.

- Your Highlight at location 3277-3284 | Added on Sunday, 2 June 2024 23:39:07

Political correctness is our new morality. In a world of political correctness, everyone is permanently on the verge of apologising for fear that they might be about to inadvertently offend someone. To cause offence, any kind of offence, is the greatest of crimes these days. What sort of people are we when we feel compelled to apologise for what we know to be true? Do we no longer have any convictions? Do we stand for nothing? Is appearing nice, and being acceptable to our peers, what we have been reduced to?

- Your Highlight at location 3338-3344 | Added on Sunday, 2 June 2024 23:42:48

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The Illuminati have often been accused of crypto-communism, but we loathe communism as much as we do capitalism. We are advocates of competition. We praise ambition. We admire and encourage great accomplishments. We want to reward and celebrate the individuals who do outstanding things. We want innovators and geniuses. We desire a society full of great people; not mediocre masses.

- Your Highlight at location 3381-3404 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 00:38:55

Existence has a purpose: to locate its hidden maximum, the transcendent point where it reaches its fullest expression. There, existence as an impersonal abstraction transfers power to a personal, concrete self-consciousness. That self-consciousness is the fruition of the universe's search for its own soul. It is what we call God. Once God has evolved, the universe's original telos has been satisfied. It is then God who sets a new telos. He is free to choose anything according to his will. He has the knowledge and power to accomplish whatever he desires. The universe is not impersonal. It is not meaningless. It is not lifeless and barren. It creates meaning. It creates intelligence. It creates consciousness. It creates a soul. It is alive and that life shines ever more brightly as it evolves. It becomes a person. God is the universe as a living personality. The Hylocosmos is God's body and the Psychocosmos his mind.

- Your Highlight at location 3524-3527 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 00:52:24

Saint-Just and Robespierre, two great Illuminists, were themselves guillotined in July 1794. They were brought down by the machinations of Satanic archons who saw that the French Revolution might be exported to every nation and permanently destroy the power-base of the Old World Order if it were allowed to prosper. Hence it must be stopped at all costs.

- Your Note at location 3568 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 23:09:00

GS/TS states that Simon Magus was the first human to achieve full union with his higher self and thus, apotheosis, which doesn't sound like quite the same thing.

- Your Highlight at location 3565-3568 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 23:09:00

First, God exists "in himself"; as abstract thought. Second, God evolves to become "concrete"—Abraxas. Third, God chooses Simon Magus as his human vessel. Fourth, humanity evolves to join Abraxas as part of a "Community of Gods".

- Your Highlight at location 3588-3610 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 23:10:34

Abraxas, the True God, the Supreme Principle, is usually represented as a being with the head of a rooster, the body of man and serpents for legs. The rooster represents the “dawn of understanding” since the rooster is the creature that greets the dawn. It is symbolic of the divine soul. Hence the three parts of Abraxas represent a) the anima bruta (the animal soul, represented by serpents) b) the anima humana (the human soul, represented by the human body) and the anima divina (the divine soul, represented by the rooster). Abraxas is the dialectical completion of this progression through the different types of soul, ascending in terms of purity, complexity, understanding and spirituality. Abraxas is often depicted with a shield and whip, showing that, like a noble Knight, he must participate in a dialectical struggle in which he progressively overcomes antitheses, contradictions, errors and ignorance if he is to actualize his full potential. The shield offers protection from the forces that seek to waylay him. The whip represents how he drives the dialectic forwards, onwards and upwards. In the most sacred representations, a Phoenix replaces a rooster as the head of Abraxas. The Phoenix, the glorious bird that rises from the ashes, is a symbol of reincarnation and transcendence of mortality and the chains that bind us to the world.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 3617-3618 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 23:14:07

In numerological terms, Abraxas has the number 365, representing the full year and, by extension, the whole of time.

- Your Highlight at location 3628-3633 | Added on Tuesday, 4 June 2024 23:16:11

Many symbolic representations of Gnostic concepts have become hopelessly tainted and corrupted as a result of Christian propaganda. Also, many Gnostic symbols have been appropriated by Old World Order secret societies such as Skull and Bones and the Bohemian Club. Anyone who comes across any picture of a Gnostic symbol in a “negative” context should bear in mind that the meaning has certainly been twisted and distorted by Christians.

The Hidden Masters (The Divine Series, #6) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 145-154 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:00:03

What appears in history books is not the real history of the world. The real thing is conducted in secret and is almost never documented. Real history revolves around a handful of power-players and a small number of secret societies. Real history is about conspiracies whereas history, as it appears in books, resembles a crime scene investigation. Events take place and historians come along later and try to work out what caused those events. But while crime scene investigators have elaborate scientific techniques to help them gather decisive forensic evidence, historians have access only to what is available in the public record, and even that is often unreliable.

- Your Highlight at location 160-162 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:00:44

Only a fool would take a historian's interpretation of events as reality. History is as meaningful as literary criticism. Historians are always "unreliable narrators".

- Your Highlight at location 186-191 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:03:18

And, naturally, the secret controllers have a huge machine of misinformation, disinformation, spin and propaganda, to conceal themselves and rubbish their enemies. Conspiracy theorists are always dismissed as mad. Who benefits from the discrediting of conspiracy theorists? The conspirators, of course. Their greatest trick is to convince the ordinary person that they do not exist.

- Your Highlight at location 206-210 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:05:00

Many conspiracy theories are indeed absurd. That does not mean that conspiracies do not exist. The whole point about conspiracies is that only the conspirators know what took place at the secret meetings. So, everyone else has to engage in speculation, and they add to the mix their own prejudices, pet topics and fantasies.

- Your Highlight at location 215-223 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:06:07

The Illuminati have engaged in many conspiracies over the millennia, but the vast majority have failed. The Illuminati are up against conspirators who are enormously more powerful. On rare occasions, they have managed to infiltrate the secret councils of the Old World Order, and it is from these episodes that they have built up their knowledge of the OWO's modus operandi. But they currently have no one in the inside. By the same token, on a couple of occasions the enemy has infiltrated the Illuminati, although no infiltrator has ever gained access to the highest level. Even members of

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

the Illuminati virtually never come into direct contact with the ruling council of the Illuminati.

- Your Bookmark at location 261 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:10:42

- Your Highlight at location 357-365 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:11:58

What is the Illuminati's alternative vision of society? Most of the details can be found in one of the most influential philosophical works of all time: The Social Contract by Jean-Jacques Rousseau. Although Rousseau was not a member of the Illuminati, his political views were virtually identical to those of the Illuminati. Robespierre and Saint-Just, the two greatest Illuminists of the French Revolution, relied on The Social Contract.

- Your Highlight at location 381-385 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:13:01

The other element upon which the OWO's empire is built is the expert manipulation of the so-called seven deadly sins, plus three others. The full ten are: avarice, wrath, envy, sloth, lust, pride, gluttony, cowardice, selfishness and vanity. The OWO are the masters of knowing how to identify which sin applies most to which person and then using that knowledge to destroy them or render them harmless.

- Your Highlight at location 482-491 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:17:27

(Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the Jesuits, was a member of the Illuminati, tasked with creating a Trojan horse of ostensibly orthodox Catholic intellectuals, that would gradually erode and discredit the intellectual basis of Catholicism. The seal of the Jesuit Order contains an Illuminati symbol of a blazing sun, to dispel darkness and ignorance.) It was because the Vatican began to suspect that the Jesuits had been infiltrated by the Illuminati that they temporarily suppressed the Order (between the years 1773 and 1814). When it was reinstated, it was under much tighter Vatican control than before, and the Illuminati lost their influence over it. During the period of suppression, many Jesuits loyal to the Vatican were still able to retain influential positions, albeit they were no longer called Jesuits. They were appalled about the rumoured involvement of the Illuminati in their Order, and swore to bring down Adam Weishaupt.

- Your Highlight at location 510-515 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:18:31

Yes, more secrets are yielded to those Illuminists who go further up the ladder. They must demonstrate that they merit the revelation of higher wisdom. Yes, small cells are used throughout the Illuminati and many members are unaware of the identities of other members. Only the ruling council of twelve has a full view of the entire society. Thanks to the cell structure, the Illuminati have never been penetrated at the highest level.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 521-530 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:19:15

As revealed in The Armageddon Conspiracy by Mike Hockney, the Illuminati were the animating force behind the Cathar heresy, the Knights Templar and the Alchemists, as well as the Freemasons. The Freemasons and the Jesuits were the two-pronged replacement for the Knights Templar. (The Jesuits, like the Templars, were supposedly faithful Catholics, but in reality were, originally at least, working to subvert Catholicism. Protestantism also came about because of the promptings of the Illuminati. The Illuminati hoped that a huge schism would destroy Christianity. They were proved wrong.)

- Your Highlight at location 536-542 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:46:43

What is the likelihood of a secret society sending allegedly incriminating documents “in the clear”—unencrypted? Zero. What is the likelihood of a vital courier just happening to be struck by lightning? Zero. It is true that Lanz, a friend of Weishaupt, was struck by lightning while at Weishaupt’s side, and it was from this fact that the myth arose. But Lanz, a priest, was not a member of the Illuminati, and was never in receipt of any Illuminati documents.

- Your Highlight at location 555-566 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 16:48:11

It’s true that the enemies of the Illuminati made life difficult for Weishaupt in Bavaria and that he was forced to leave (though with the offer of a pension from the Bavarian government—hardly what you would expect if he were deemed a deadly enemy of the state), eventually settling in Gotha where he was given the protection of Duke Ernest II of Saxe-Gotha-Altenburg. The fact that he received royal patronage is the surest proof that the full extent of the Illuminati’s plans remained completely secret. The Illuminati were linked with a number of aristocrats who did not know the true nature of the society. The Illuminati were able to exploit these influential connections to advance their plans. Until the last few decades, the Illuminati felt they had no option but to act in this manner i.e. to cultivate the “friendship” of VIPs. Now, the Illuminati avoid all contact with the rich and powerful because moving in privileged circles caused some members of the Illuminati to be corrupted.

- Your Highlight at location 602-607 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 00:30:56

“Finally it was whispered in the candidate’s ear that the ultimate secret is that there is no secret.” It is true that this was said. It was a test that was applied to candidates to reduce them to despair (to bring about metaphorical spiritual death) so that they could then be reborn in the truth. It is common practice for such statements to be taken out of context and woefully misinterpreted by the Illuminati’s enemies.

- Your Highlight at location 638-646 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 09:03:54

Weishaupt was not the founder of the Illuminati. The secret society he established was the Order of Perfectibilists (“The Perfectionists”). The inspiration for the name came from the priesthood of the Cathars known as the Perfecti (Perfects, Parfaits). The Illuminati infiltrated the Perfectibilists and discovered that it had much in common with the Illuminati. Weishaupt was then recruited by the Illuminati, and showed such dedication and merit that he was elected the Grand Master after the death of the incumbent. His chosen name within the Illuminati was “Brother Spartacus” to show his commitment to overthrowing the Old World Order and to leading the slaves to overcome their cruel masters.

- Your Highlight at location 666-669 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 09:05:44

Jacques de Molay was the heroic last Grand Master of the Knights Templar, savagely tortured for years by King Philip IV of France’s henchmen and then burned at the stake in 1314. The Knights Templar were founded by the Illuminati. The Illuminati were indeed elated to be avenged against the kings of France.

- Your Highlight at location 688-701 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 09:06:51

The Archons: these are the ultimate puppet-masters: the “unknown superiors”. There are 144 of them and their task is to maintain the Old World Order in perpetuity. They are opposed by 36 equivalents on the side of light whose mission is to accomplish the overthrow of the Old World Order and the creation of a New World Order. The former outnumber the latter by four to one, and this reflects the degree of difficulty of defeating the Old World Order. We will be saying much more about the archons and their malignant influence on history in a future book called The Soul Camera.

- Your Highlight at location 794-819 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 11:58:58

The conflict between Leibniz and Newton ostensibly revolved around a bitter dispute about who had priority in the discovery of calculus. Newton, with more powerful friends, won the dispute, accusing Leibniz of plagiarism. It is now believed that Newton was first, but he failed to publish his results for a number of years and in that time Leibniz independently formulated calculus, and published his results before Newton. It is the notation devised by Leibniz that is used in modern calculus. In fact, the dispute between the two men raged most fiercely in the secret world of alchemy. Newton, and the shadowy group with which he had associated himself, managed to pervert the true message of alchemy and ostracise Leibniz and his supporters. They spied on Leibniz and his closest confidants, harassed them, and attempted to infiltrate the Illuminati. As a result, the Illuminati had to communicate with Leibniz via secret codes based on binary mathematics. The Illuminati soon withdrew from their involvement in alchemy and instead began the creation of Freemasonry as a new vehicle to carry their ideas to the people with eyes to see and ears to hear the truth. In the same way that the enemies of the Illuminati managed to twist alchemy into a mockery of what it was intended to be, so they eventually succeeded in perverting Freemasonry too. Through the Leibniz-Newton conflict may be glimpsed the secret struggle that underlies apparent history. Gödel was one of the few people who perceived this hidden undercurrent. The Illuminati contemplated recruiting him, but decided against it on the grounds that he was too much of a maverick and neurotic, with the type of personality that would not be suited to working within an organisation with strict collective discipline. A number of other would-be recruits have been rejected for precisely the same reasons. Gödel, one of the greatest geniuses of modern times, wasn't wrong that a sinister group had taken an interest in both Leibniz and him. That sinister group is real and the struggle against it continues to this day.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 844-851 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 12:05:50

The reason for the Illuminati's historical hostility towards this novel is that it is inspired by the real life act of treachery of a member of the Illuminati who broke his most sacred vows and attempted to publicly reveal secret practices of the Illuminati. The traitor was "inspired" in his actions by William Morgan, a Freemason who attempted to reveal the Masonic secrets to which he had become party. The case of Morgan is a notorious one, and the relevant Wikipedia entry provides a good introduction. Morgan was reputedly harassed, kidnapped then killed by fellow Masons for announcing that he was publishing a book called Illustrations of Masonry

- Your Highlight at location 1163-1164 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 12:31:23

Then followed a systematic investigation of authorities of the Alchemical School, including Geber, Morienus, Roger Bacon, George Ripley, Raymond Lully, Bernard, Count of Trevis, Isaac Hollandus, Arnoldus de la Villanova, Paracelsus, and others,

- Your Highlight at location 1617-1631 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 13:34:45

Two different novels offer hints that Lloyd discovered two natural psychoactives—a narcotic plant and a psychedelic fungus—which he failed to publicize out of fear of the possible consequences. ——— The Lost Narcotic of the Shawnee L LOYD'S NARCOTIC PLANT is mentioned briefly in Allan W. Eckert's historical novel The Frontiersmen. This novel depicts a conversation between a young girl and the great Shawnee Leader, Tecumseh. In the conversation, Tecumseh reveals to the girl the secrets of

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

a “strange” herb and the fruit of particular tree. He explains that they are used by the Shawnee as powerful analgesics, allowing them to bear great pain during battle or torture.

- Your Highlight at location 1918-1927 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:07:50

The Illuminati is now of the opinion that certain knowledge should be released into the public sphere to dispel the misinformation and disinformation that has long surrounded the Illuminati. The purpose of the material the Illuminati is releasing into the public domain in this series of books is to furnish interested parties with the same knowledge that would be available to sixth degree Illuminists. The three individuals who are responsible for this material are seventh degree Illuminists, all seeking to be admitted to the three “mystery” degrees of the Illuminati. The highest degree of the Illuminati has only twelve adepts, and these form the ruling council of the Illuminati, and from amongst their number the Grand Master is elected. Like the Papacy, this final degree operates according to a “dead man’s shoes” principle i.e. a member of the ruling council must die before a new Illuminatus can be admitted to the council.

- Your Highlight at location 1951-1957 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:10:58

Although it began as a noble, heroic and anti-establishment organisation committed to spreading Enlightenment values, Freemasonry was soon identified by the Old World Order as the weak link in the resistance movement, one that could be “turned”. They were not wrong. The central problem with Freemasonry was that it expanded too fast. Originally it only recruited meritocratic individuals, highly committed to political and religious transformation of the world, but, as it expanded, new members joined who had none of the same reforming zeal but were merely curious about the secrets and ceremonial practices of Freemasonry.

- Your Highlight at location 1962-1970 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:13:45

The 3-person Illuminati cell that is responsible for this series of books is a so-called “communication cell” (one of a number of such cells, all of which operate independently and are engaged in a variety of projects) and has no influence over the recruitment cell. We pass on details of individuals who contact us expressing an interest in joining the Illuminati (and we provide a recommendation), but virtually all such candidates are put on a “watch” file. In essence, this means that the progress of such candidates is monitored over a period of years to see if they are committed, zealous, meritocratic individuals who are not susceptible to the corruption of the OWO. “The Movement” is now the testing ground where would-be recruits can demonstrate their credentials.

- Your Highlight at location 1978-1994 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:17:53

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics

The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The Illuminati rejects modern Freemasonry utterly because it has been hijacked by the so-called Star Families (bloodlines) of the Old World Order and has become their primary means of upholding their power. Every member of the OWO is a Mason, although they belong to extremely special lodges to which no ordinary Mason is ever admitted. What most people “know” about the Illuminati concerns the period when, under Grand Master Adam Weishaupt, the Order’s existence became a matter of public record. Weishaupt was a professor, an expert in law, canon law and philosophy, who was determined to push forward the agenda of the Enlightenment with its two primary goals: a) to attack the idiocy, hypocrisy, illogic, corruption and oppression of Christianity and b) to attack the inequality, unfairness, tyranny, elitism, injustice and oppression of the European monarchies and the arrogant aristocracies that supported them. Weishaupt was a highly educated academic (in common with many members of the Illuminati), committed to bringing about a New World Order based on meritocracy where everyone has a fair chance and can rise as high as their talents warrant. It is astounding that Weishaupt’s New World Order has been transformed in contemporary mythology from a vehicle to overthrow tyranny into one that, according to the deranged anarcho-capitalist libertarians with their shape-shifting Reptiles, Hollow Earth, Nibiru and microchip theories, will bring about the greatest tyranny of all, where the Earth is ruled by fascist aliens. How can any rational human being equate what Weishaupt actually said with what the libertarian lunatics are claiming he said?

- Your Highlight at location 2005-2016 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:19:46

The Illuminati’s main problem is its own creation: Freemasonry. Freemasonry was designed as a movement to advance the cause of the Enlightenment. Initially, Freemasonry did exactly what was expected of it. In particular, it helped during the French Revolution to overthrow the evil monarchy of Louis XVI. Before that, it gave rise to the Republic of the United States of America where the great Illuminist Thomas Jefferson was the main author of the inspirational Declaration of Independence. The sentiments expressed there are what the Illuminati stand for, yet the anarcho-capitalist libertarians who, perversely, claim to be on the side of truth, freedom and justice, oppose these principles. Thomas Jefferson ensured that America allowed its citizens to worship God in whatever way they chose i.e. there was no state church, no state religion, no demands for people to follow particular religious practices.

- Your Highlight at location 2045-2060 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:51:13

America has not evolved as its founders intended it should, but that was because the “Empire” fought back i.e. the Old World Order worked out how

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

to sabotage the wondrous American experiment. They chose Freemasonry as the Trojan Horse that would allow them to infiltrate the new American system of government. This was the logical and perfect choice since most of the leading figures in the American Revolution were Masons. The Illuminati had intended Masons to be Enlightenment warriors—noble, honourable, principled and driven by meritocracy—but the Old World Order appealed to the oldest of temptations: greed and lust for money, power, fame, sex and influence. They turned Freemasonry to the dark side by the simple and brutally effective use of bribery and corruption. It's the tactic they always use to neutralise their enemies, and it rarely fails. Freemasonry is now a nauseating, unprincipled, self-serving secret society of freeloaders, carpetbaggers, robber barons, gangsters, racketeers and everyone who's fake, on the make and on the take. The only difference between the Mafia and Freemasonry is that the Mafia are outside the establishment while the Freemasons are the establishment.

- Your Highlight at location 2074-2075 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:52:12

Economist John Maynard Keynes said, "Capitalism is the astounding belief that the wickedest of men will do the wickedest of things for the greatest good of everyone."

- Your Highlight at location 2089-2096 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:53:43

The great unholy alliance of our time is between Washington DC's Freemasonry and Wall Street's Jewish bankers. The banks provide the financial muscle while the Masons provide the political and social power: a marriage truly made in hell. Chelsea Clinton, the daughter of former President Bill Clinton and Secretary of State Hillary Clinton is married to Jewish Goldman Sachs investment banker Marc Mezvinsky, son of former Pennsylvania Representative Marjorie Margolies-Mezvinsky and former Iowa Representative Ed Mezvinsky. This is how the Old World Order works: dynastic marriages stretching across the banking and political worlds, continually extending their financial and political power.

- Your Highlight at location 2138-2144 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 14:58:59

But it must be emphasised that there are many good Jews who are as opposed to what the Jewish banking fraternity get up to as we are. There can be no knee-jerk anti-Semitism. The Old World Order consists of only 6,000 people: a small number of super-rich Jews, a small number of super-influential Freemasons, a small number of members of the aristocratic and royal families of Europe, a small number of super-celebrities and a small number of self-serving "intellectuals" and propagandists. They are backed up by senior members of the world's security forces (military and police) and intelligence services.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 2208-2220 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 15:09:46

Many of these myths arise from the fact that secret societies such as the Illuminati have, throughout history, often used underground chambers to act as sanctuaries during times of persecution. There are subterranean sites all over the world, particularly in Europe, where the Illuminati sought refuge from those hunting them. Some of these were quite large structures and were able to provide a home to hundreds of people for protracted periods. But there were never elaborate underground cities. No human society could flourish below the surface, away from the sun. There is indeed a “Cave of Zoroaster” in Kansas that is used to this day by the Illuminati (though Lloyd was never able to find it despite repeated attempts). The type of secret ceremony described in The Millionaires’ Death Club by Mike Hockney is loosely what takes place there.

- Your Highlight at location 2230-2231 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 15:10:51

The Illuminati do use a certain natural psychedelic drug in some of their ceremonies.

- Your Highlight at location 2232-2244 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 15:12:10

The strange guide who leads I Am The Man into the earth takes the role of the Illuminati’s mystagogue—the one who prepares candidates for initiation into the mysteries—representing the god Hermes. This person is also known as the psychopompos—the “conductor of souls”—who must lead the “dead” through the underworld. He may also be referred to as the hierokeryx (herald of the sacred) or hierophantes (he who shows the sacred things).

- Your Highlight at location 2329-2333 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 15:19:03

All about me was dead and dark, all within was still and cold, only my quickened intellect remained as in every corpse the self-conscious intellect must remain, while the body has a mortal form, for death of body is not attended by the immediate liberation of mind. The consciousness of the dead man is still acute, and he who thinks the dead are mindless, will realize his fearful error when devoid of motion he lies a corpse, conscious of all that passes on around him, waiting the liberation that can only come by disintegration and destruction of the flesh.

- Your Highlight at location 2364-2366 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 15:22:02

I Am The Man gives a speech clearly inspired by the Illuminati and uses the Illuminati phrase “The Unknown Country” (representing the mysterious stage beyond the ego when the Self—the divine spark—is coming into view for the first time):

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 2439-2448 | Added on Sunday, 12 May 2024 15:32:54

Etidorhpa came into being as an act of treachery by a renegade Illuminist. It betrayed secrets of the Illuminati and could have caused immense damage, but no serious consequences flowed and now the Illuminati are willing to point to Etidorhpa as providing a number of interesting insights into the secret workings of the Illuminati. But there is also much in the book that originates in the speculations of John Uri Lloyd and has no connection with the Illuminati. Interested readers will have to navigate their own way through the labyrinth to separate genuine Illuminati teachings from Lloyd's flights of the imagination.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Eastern Religion for Western Gnostics (The Divine Series, #7) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 212-219 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 15:49:00

The ancient Greek pagan religion of Orphism was an enlightenment religion as was Roman Mithraism and Celtic Druidism. Mixed in with Phoenician, Egyptian, Babylonian, Persian and far-Eastern influences, they gave rise to the proliferation of sects known under the general term of Gnosticism (deriving from gnosis, the ancient Greek word for “knowledge”). For a time, Gnosticism provided a serious rival to Christianity and claimed to promote the authentic truth of Christianity. But the Catholic Church brooked no “heretical” rival and stamped out its enemy.

- Your Highlight at location 983-985 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 17:33:05

Avatars are absurd in terms of the logic of Hinduism. They are redundant: the process of karma accomplishes everything that is supposedly done by Avatars.

- Your Note at location 1003 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 17:41:35

I always understood, perhaps incorrectly, that an avatar is an evolved soul that has escaped from samsara but elects to reincarnate in order to help humanity. I also wonder whether equating Hindu's avatars with Illuminism's phosters would resolve the highlighted redundancy problem.

- Your Highlight at location 998-1003 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 17:41:36

The Illuminati has always remained a small organisation in order that it should not have to dilute its teachings to appeal to the sort of people who want God to perform cheap conjuring tricks for them. If we are all capable of becoming Gods then we should not be concerning ourselves with avatars unless it is to label ourselves as avatars. After all, we could all be defined as gods (divine sparks) that have descended to the earth. We are all capable of remarkable feats if we comprehend our true natures.

- Your Highlight at location 1680-1681 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 22:43:15

The Greek philosopher Heraclitus (an Illuminatus)

- Your Highlight at location 1690-1694 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 22:44:24

Where most religions are intent on developing the perfect self, Buddhism seeks to create perfect selflessness. (But it must be pointed out that the “perfect self” contains a great deal of selflessness. No religion advocates the creation of a selfish, egotistical, narcissistic super being who cares nothing for others. That would be a devil, not a perfect self.)

- Your Highlight at location 1835-1837 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 22:50:29

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Karma stands in opposition to all the principles of the Western Enlightenment. It is an entirely Satanic concept and has no role in a civilised world.

- Your Highlight at location 2234-2245 | Added on Thursday, 16 May 2024 14:11:13

The biggest mystery of Hinduism is why Maya exists in the first place i.e. why is the power of illusion allowed to stand between the human soul and the divine soul? The conclusion that cannot be avoided is that God himself created the illusion. He did so, it would seem, because he is engaged in a process of perpetual renewal, always perfecting himself intellectually and morally. The Hindu God is not a God of Being. He is a God of Eternal Becoming. This is the key insight of Hinduism. The God of Hinduism is nothing like the God of the Abrahamic religions, and hence is infinitely more credible. He is an evolutionary God and is identified with the universe (rather than being a Creator God external to the universe), as any God must be to be scientifically compatible. The gap between Hinduism and Illumination is enormously smaller than that between the Abrahamic religions and Illumination.

- Your Highlight at location 3061-3075 | Added on Thursday, 16 May 2024 15:22:44

The ills of the world are easy (in principle) to resolve. Get rid of Abrahamism. Get rid of materialism. Get rid of capitalism. Unite East and West via Illumination. Restore humanity's spiritual sense. Turn away from objects and money. Emphasize community rather than selfish, self-interested nuclear families engaged in a ruthless zero-sum game. We are all better off helping each other, not cutting each other's throats. Overcome racism, sexism and discrimination. We are all human beings containing a divine spark. Let's burnish all of those individual sparks. Let's become the gods we have it within us to be. Let's light up the universe. We will be the Cosmic Star.

- Your Highlight at location 3110-3136 | Added on Thursday, 16 May 2024 15:29:40

If there is one practical idea with which the Illuminati would wish to be forever linked, it is that children must be given an absolute guarantee by the State that they will be treated according to their own merits and natures, and not those of their parents. The sins of the fathers will NOT be visited on the sons. The brainwashing to which parents have been subjected will not be allowed to be transmitted to their children. Parents have NO RIGHT AT ALL to poison their children's bodies or minds. Parents would not be allowed to feed their children arsenic. Why are they allowed to give them mental arsenic in the shape of Abrahamist beliefs, deadly to any child's healthy development? Children must be FREE. They are not the glove puppets of their parents. They are not "mini me's". They must not prosper

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

or suffer because of who their parents are and how their parents fared in life. They are individuals with rights. They have the right to participate in a meritocracy rather than a system of nepotism, cronyism and privilege. Inherited wealth should play no part in any human society. No child should be the beneficiary or victim of parental advantage or disadvantage. The success or otherwise of the parents should be irrelevant to that of the children. It is the absolute duty of the State to implement a fair and just society based on a fair, just and meritocratic system. The task of parents is to love, protect and nurture their children, to provide the environment in which they will flourish and reach the maximum actualization of their potential. It is not the job of parents to force their children into a rigid mould of parental, religious and social expectations. It is not the job of parents to bring up their children in their own image. It is not the job of parents to be dictators and tyrants over their children. Rather, they must be helpful guardians, guides and mentors.

- Your Highlight at location 3287-3297 | Added on Thursday, 16 May 2024 15:38:42

Adam Weishaupt, the most controversial and radical of the Grand Masters of the Illuminati, sought to spark the war of all wars that would overthrow all of the tyrants, monarchs, elites and religions of control. The American and French Revolutions were the first battles. But the real war has not yet been joined. It is only just starting. And now you are called to the front line. The Illuminati's revolutionary agenda has not altered one jot since Weishaupt's time. The Power Elite are still in charge. The mass of humanity is still enslaved, still treated with contempt, still denied a fair chance. Its immense potential is still ignored.

The Reincarnation of Jesus Christ (The Divine Series, #8) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 574-581 | Added on Friday, 10 May 2024 16:59:46

Origen's system is a far healthier and more logical version of Christianity than the one that became the Orthodox position. It creates a hybrid between Abrahamic religion (based on a Creator God and the resurrection of the body) and Enlightenment religion (based on a non-Creator God and reincarnation). Being a hybrid, it suffers major difficulties in its logic, yet it remains far more rational and plausible than conventional Christianity. Had it prevailed, the history of Christianity would have been entirely different. It deeply troubled the Illuminati (who had hoped that Origen's ideas would remove the fanaticism from Christianity and turn it into something more benign) that Christians were so keen to cast aside this humane and tolerant version of the Christian religion.

- Your Highlight at location 584-589 | Added on Friday, 10 May 2024 17:00:23

Even now, Christianity could be salvaged and made into something decent and respectable if it were reconstructed along the lines of the many heresies it so ruthlessly suppressed in the past, and if a symbolic Christ replaced the historical one. In fact, one cell of the Illuminati is actively engaged in the task of trying to create a good version of Christianity based on the traditional Gnostic idea of Christ as a super angelic being sent by the True God to help humanity to escape from the Demiurge. This would be the religion of "Christian Gnosis".

- Your Note at location 691 | Added on Friday, 10 May 2024 17:16:19

Something to ponder: elsewhere, when discussing the 6D universe consisting of three orthogonal complex planes, they make the point that some distances compute out to zero. This means that extension and non-extension can coexist.

- Your Highlight at location 687-691 | Added on Friday, 10 May 2024 17:16:19

In relation to Cartesian philosophy,  $r > 0$  implies a domain of extension i.e. matter, a physical world of individuated things in space and time, separated by real distances, while  $r = 0$  implies a domain of non-extension i.e. mind, a mental world of interconnectivity, outside physical space and time, where entities are not separated by any distance and nothing has any physical size.

- Your Highlight at location 724-728 | Added on Friday, 10 May 2024 22:38:22

The Second Council of Constantinople in 553 CE declared: "If anyone does not anathematize Arius, Eunomius, Macedonius, Apollinaris, Nestorius, Eutyches and Origen, together with their impious, godless writings, and all the other heretics already condemned and anathematized by the holy

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

catholic and apostolic Church, and by the aforementioned four Holy Synods and all those who have held and hold or who in their godlessness persist in holding to the end the same opinion as those heretics just mentioned; let him be anathema.”

- Your Highlight at location 943-950 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 14:14:35

“Phosters” are the good angels that have taken human form, and “archons” the evil ones. In both cases, they are certainly human, but they are not “ordinary” humans. Phosters and archons have much greater powers and they live enormously longer, but there are very few of them. You won’t bump into one any time soon. And nor do they use their powers in the childish manner of superheroes. In fact, they rarely use their powers at all.

- Your Highlight at location 951-956 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 14:15:13

The archons are the bosses of elite and secret companies that “advise” a) the rich and powerful, b) corporations, c) political leaders, d) the military e) the Intelligence services etc. They are the ultimate puppet-masters who make the Old World Order dance to their tune, and the OWO are only too happy to obey. The archons offer the traditional Faustian pact—you sell them your soul in return for the greatest riches and power the earth can offer, which they then engineer for you.

- Your Highlight at location 1018-1027 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 14:23:50

The idea that rich people are being karmically “rewarded” is obscene and must be demolished if we are ever to have a better world. If it is karmic justice that the rich are rich and the poor poor then we might as well all accept our lot in life. It is exactly because of this disgusting idea that the Eastern religions of Enlightenment have never achieved a better and nobler world than the West. Eastern religions preach the NECESSITY and MORALITY of differences in wealth and power. They preach absolute passivity towards Power. Thus, even though they have come at the problem from an entirely different perspective, they have ended up with a set of religious beliefs that are entirely compatible with rule by a rich Elite—the Old World Order. Thus are they far from enlightenment.

- Your Highlight at location 1063-1070 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 14:28:49

“Nice guys” always finish second. How can anyone subscribe to a mysterious force called karma that is supposedly punishing the wicked and rewarding the righteous if the plain evidence of our world is that the opposite is true? You would need to be mad to believe in karma. It is comprehensively refuted by all the available and self-evident facts. Karma is the single concept that has ruined the East. It has been a deadly toxin to the religions of enlightenment. It has brought the opposite: endarkenment.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 1194-1197 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 14:40:32

So, you can see for yourself how it is logically impossible to crossbreed Judaism and Platonism. The offspring can only be an abomination, and that's exactly what it was. Christianity came into the world as a grotesque mutant.

- Your Highlight at location 1336-1338 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 14:53:42

(The Muslims have similar beliefs which is why so many of them are keen on "martyrdom operations", or suicide bombings to be more accurate. The promise of martyrdom equates to a massive increase in suicide/homicide: is that an example of the law of unintended consequences?)

- Your Highlight at location 1391-1420 | Added on Saturday, 11 May 2024 15:21:15

So, have you spotted the fatal flaw at the centre of Christian resurrection theory? Well, we clearly don't live in a perfect world, hence the world hasn't yet been remade, so where are all the souls of the dead people who haven't yet been resurrected with their earthly bodies? Either their souls are currently as dead as their bodies, and have rotted away into nothingness, just as their bodies have turned to dust, or their souls happily exist elsewhere. If so, their souls have a purely mental existence, or have some sort of alternative body, which plainly isn't their resurrection body. Either way, the soul can exist perfectly well without its resurrection body, so what's the point of getting its old body back? What's the point of Earth II, new and improved? What's the point of rebuilding heaven? What's the point of God acquiring a physical body? None of it makes any sense. Why do you never hear the Pope discussing these issues? You'll hear him mentioning condoms, but not souls. Why does no evangelical preacher ever refer to these crucial questions? Why is there a conspiracy of silence about all of these tricky theological points? Why do intellectuals never examine them? Why is the whole debate shut down? Cui bono? Given that resurrection is the indispensable core of Christianity, shouldn't it be a bulletproof, armour-plated concept, so brilliant, so logical, so awesome that it simply cannot be questioned? Yet when you actually look at it and think about it, you discover that it's a heap of incoherent, illogical, irrational junk and that none of its advocates can actually be bothered to defend it. Just have faith, they say. That's all they ever have to say. RESURRECTION IS BULLSHIT!!! How can anyone believe it? It's mad. Only the deranged could take it seriously. And yet this is what Abrahamism IS ALL ABOUT!!!

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The Quintessence (The Divine Series, #9) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 321-322 | Added on Monday, 13 May 2024 23:21:31

Pythagoras, from the island of Samos near Miletus, was the first Grand Master of the Illuminati and the first philosopher to become a cultural superstar.

- Your Highlight at location 341-341 | Added on Monday, 13 May 2024 23:21:51

Heraclitus, from Ephesus in Ionia, was also a Grand Master of the Illuminati,

- Your Highlight at location 360-362 | Added on Monday, 13 May 2024 23:23:25

His final fate was to be devoured by dogs. While Heraclitus was the third Grand Master of the Illuminati, Empedocles, from Sicily, was the sixth.

- Your Highlight at location 402-412 | Added on Monday, 13 May 2024 23:30:41

Empedocles killed himself at the peak of his powers by throwing himself into the volcanic crater of Mount Etna. He desired to disappear “like a god”. After his death, the Illuminati added a fifth element to the four types of matter from which all other substances were composed. Joining Earth, Air, Fire and Water was the famous quinta essentia—the quintessence—an immaterial and incorruptible substance permeating everything. It is also known as aether or ether.

- Your Note at location 518 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:01:42

Plato was expelled from the Illuminati for revealing their secrets.

- Your Highlight at location 518-518 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:01:42

He joined the Illuminati but was expelled for openly discussing with “outsiders” what he had learned.

- Your Highlight at location 583-584 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:11:16

If we call a unit of thought or mind a monad then Plato’s Forms are monads that have reached their dialectical endpoint and cannot undergo any further change.

- Your Note at location 616 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:21:07

Interesting. This is saying that in a dream, one can have experiences of space and time, that, being mental, are outside of space and time.

- Your Highlight at location 614-616 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:21:07

The ancients thought that dreams demonstrated that there was a domain “beyond” this one. They were right: it’s the  $r = 0$  domain.

- Your Highlight at location 632-648 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:34:48

These two domains constitute the whole of reality, and it can be seen that Plato's scheme bears a striking resemblance to the  $r = 0$  and  $r > 0$  domains of the  $r \geq 0$  universe. However, there is one critical difference. Both frameworks, Plato's and that of the Illuminati, agree that the realm of Sensible Things ( $r > 0$ ) is governed by Heraclitus's Principle of Becoming. However, whereas Plato states that the realm of Forms is governed by Parmenides' Principle of Being, the Illuminati's  $r = 0$  domain is also Heraclitean in nature and is governed by the Dialectical Principle of Becoming. The key point is that everything in  $r = 0$  is evolving dialectically, but some things come to a dialectical end-point sooner than others. The consequence is that things that have reached their dialectical conclusion cannot change any further and hence are now eternally fixed i.e. they have become Parmenidean and are now pure Being. But all those things that have not reached their dialectical conclusion are still "becoming". Humanity is still becoming. Becoming is primary. Being is a secondary quality that arises when the process of becoming reaches a logical endpoint in a particular instance and no further change is possible. Heraclitus trumps Parmenides.

- Your Highlight at location 746-752 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:44:05

The Catholic Church based much of its core theology on Aristotle's philosophy (with Plato furnishing most of the remainder). It is for this reason that the Catholic religion is vastly more intellectually credible than Protestantism. Catholicism, whatever else might be said about it, is a serious and credible intellectual endeavour because of its roots in Greek philosophy. If the absurd figure of Yehoshua ben Yosef (Jesus, the Christ) were removed from Catholicism, it would not be so far removed from Illuminism (which is essentially ancient Greek philosophy dialectically overlaid by German Enlightenment thinking).

- Your Highlight at location 785-791 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 11:50:42

Evangelical Protestants are the Fundamentalist Christians who, along with the Fundamentalist Muslims and Fundamentalist Jews, represent the greatest possible danger to humanity's progress. Most of the Old World Order, the dynastic families that rule the world, have evangelical Protestant backgrounds. Most of the highest ranks of Freemasonry have evangelical Protestant backgrounds. Most of the richest people on earth have evangelical Protestant and Zionist backgrounds. Evangelical Protestantism is an extreme threat to humanity. It represents the Dark Ages.

- Your Highlight at location 921-929 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 12:55:53

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Everything exists on the continuum of potentiality and actuality. Everything, other than formless matter and matterless form, is a mix of the two ingredients. The more actualised something is, the closer it is to God. The aim of any human being is to achieve maximum actualisation of his potential. Aristotle's scheme resembles the central thesis of Illuminism: that the universe evolves teleologically from its simplest state to its most complex, from maximum potential to maximum actualisation, from utter formlessness to perfect form, from matter to God. In Aristotle's scheme it is the pre-existing Supreme Being who is drawing the universe upwards towards him: in Illuminism, the universe becomes the Supreme Being (who did not previously exist).

- Your Bookmark at location 1022 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 13:03:09

- Your Highlight at location 1085-1091 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 13:05:26

Ammonius Saccas, a Grand Master of the Illuminati, was the founder of the pagan religion known as Neoplatonism ("New Platonism"—a revised and "perfected" version of Plato's philosophy) that prospered for a couple of centuries (approximately 250—450 CE) before being assimilated, like Mithraism before it, by Christianity. Ammonius Saccas committed nothing to paper in any public way, so the credit for founding Neoplatonism is often attributed to his star pupil, Plotinus, who was the first to set out in writing in the public arena the principles of Neoplatonism.

- Your Highlight at location 1129-1133 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 13:09:45

One of the great tragedies of the world is that the West spurned Neoplatonism in favour of Christianity. Had the West chosen otherwise, it would have avoided a lost millennium. The curse of Christianity would have faded away and the violent religion of Islam, with its warrior prophet all too keen to spill the blood of the "infidel", would never have been born.

- Your Highlight at location 2037-2048 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 16:25:18

What is the origin of Form/Mind? What is the origin of Formlessness/Matter? How do the two combine? This, more or less, is the fundamental question of the source of ordered, organized existence leading to conscious minds that are able to contemplate existence. ANYONE who claims to have absolute knowledge of existence must be able to answer this question. Plato failed, Aristotle failed, Abrahamism fails, Eastern religion fails, science fails. For any system of thought to be taken seriously, it must put forward its answer to this question, and if it is unable to do so then it should be explicitly rejected, or treated with the utmost circumspection. The "revealed" religions of Abrahamism simply say that God sorts it all out, which is no answer at all, and science ignores the question (because it knows it can't answer it.)

- Your Highlight at location 2071-2083 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 16:30:18

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Since Descartes, we have been accustomed to thinking of extended matter and unextended mind. Since Einstein, we have been accustomed to thinking of energy and mass as different forms of each other. Mass is said to be “bound” energy, concentrated energy, giving it volume, size and extension. So what about the complementary concepts of unextended matter and extended mind? Unextended, dimensionless matter is simply mind, and extended, dimensional mind simply matter. Thus we see how Form and matter truly interact. Mind is energy and energy is dimensionless matter. Matter is dimensional energy i.e. dimensional, extended mind. There is not only an equation between mass and energy, but also between mind and matter. Form and matter are thus absolutely integrated through energy/mind. What could be more straightforward and logical?

- Your Highlight at location 2102-2107 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 16:33:06

Plato is wrong that there are separate realms of formless matter and matterless form. Aristotle is wrong that there is a ladder of existence beginning at formless matter and stretching up to matterless form. Plotinus is wrong that form and matter, although always co-existing in our world and in the higher world, are still separate. The reality is that there is just one substance, one with an inner drive to actualize its potential: it is psycho-energy—energy with an inbuilt mind and will.

- Your Highlight at location 2191-2195 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 16:45:44

Form is impossible without mind. Form is a function and expression of mind. There can be no form without mind. Mind is the essence of form. Form is the proof that the cosmos has a mind, that mind is a fundamental property of the arche.

- Your Highlight at location 2223-2227 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 16:47:21

EVOLUTION IS LEARNING. LEARNING IS A PROCESS OF MIND. THEREFORE EVOLUTION IS A PROCESS OF MIND. EVOLUTION HAS A GOAL: THE OMEGA POINT OF ALL EVOLUTIONARY PROCESSES.

- Your Highlight at location 2326-2331 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 17:02:28

Will is the magic ingredient of existence, the X factor. Here is wisdom—nothing is possible without will. The cosmos could never evolve if it did not have an inner compulsion to do so. It would never crave information, it would never seek higher forms, never strive for consciousness, if it did not have an obsessive drive to grow and maximize itself. Our individual wills reflect the cosmic will.

- Your Highlight at location 2408-2416 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 17:06:59

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

In the non space-time domain of the Nous, the only type of thinking is the intuitive type. Hence anyone who can transfer their mental processes from the Psyche to the Nous will effectively become God. The complete switch from Psyche to Nous is what Gnostics refer to as gnosis. As soon as it happens, the mind enters a new domain and embraces a brand-new way of thinking based on a chain reaction of the most astonishing intuitions. The “Mind Reactor” goes critical and reveals the Mind of God. What is the Mind of God if not the means to think all possible thoughts at the same time? That is what Nous, but not Psyche, accomplishes.

- Your Note at location 2450 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 17:12:30

Again, an interesting difference of opinion regarding the value of practices such as meditation. Elsewhere, in GS & TS, Hockney & Stark claim that meditation diminishes consciousness.

- Your Highlight at location 2449-2450 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 17:12:30

By contemplation, meditation, and intellectual discipline, a human mind can climb the ladder to Higher Soul then Nous, then direct contemplation of the One—the equivalent of ecstatic union with God.

- Your Highlight at location 2564-2570 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 18:44:31

The right hemisphere of the brain is the domain of intuitive thinking. Our everyday consciousness resides in the left brain. So, if you want to become a visionary and make contact with the higher world, you have to engage the remarkable capacities of your right brain. The dialectical thinking championed by Plotinus consists of an alternation between left brain analytical thinking and right brain thinking based on achieving synthesis (the whole). This process will raise the mind to the highest levels.

- Your Highlight at location 2746-2752 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 18:57:40

Plotinus is famous for attacking the Gnostic position that the Demiurge is the agent of evil. But how can evil enter the world passively and unthinkingly, without any choice or expression of free will? Plotinus’ position is untenable. Evil is always a choice, always an exercise of free will. Hence it is the product of consciousness. It exists nowhere else other than in consciousness. A single type of being commits all acts of evil: the conscious type.

- Your Highlight at location 2890-2895 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 21:59:01

It is the dialectic that animates the cosmos, pushes it forward, causes meaningful change and transformation, that converts the potential into the actual. Existence is possible without becoming, and existence and becoming are possible without meaning. Only dialectical becoming—teleological

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

change—can make existence meaningful. The force of becoming is what manifests itself in the universe as motion and the dialectic.

- Your Note at location 2886 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 22:03:25

But of course, such a world would have to have been created that way, since it could not have evolved.

- Your Highlight at location 2884-2886 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 22:03:25

We can imagine a world of existence not driven by the force of any type of becoming. Such a world would be static, bloodless, lifeless—because there would be nothing bringing change to it.

- Your Highlight at location 2914-2919 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 22:08:02

For the Illuminati, the One, the Will, is the hidden God that evolves into the manifest God. It is the source of existence and from it, dialectically, the Omega Point of existence (the cosmic terminus) will emerge. Thus, the One is the first and last, the beginning and end, the Alpha and the Omega. It can be depicted by the symbol of the Ouroboros—the snake that eats itself.

- Your Highlight at location 2964-2967 | Added on Tuesday, 14 May 2024 22:20:21

The Nous contemplates that which it cannot truly think—the One—which has no formal being. If the Nous could think the One, then the One would have being and hence not be the One. The One is the ultimate enigma for the Nous, and it can contemplate the mystery of the One for eternity.

- Your Highlight at location 3019-3027 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 08:14:49

As with Hegel, the central concept of Plotinus is that the world/Nature is a place of alienation of the Mind, and only after a long and difficult process does the alienated mind return to itself. In Hegel, it is at a much higher level than before, but for Plotinus it is more a case of rediscovering its true origins rather than attaining a higher state. Hegel's is the much grander and nobler conception. In Hegel, the Mind learns new things; in Plotinus, the Soul purifies itself and learns how to contemplate the Mind properly, but the Mind itself has not learned anything. There is a great deal of similarity between Hegel's thinking and Plotinus', but Hegel solves the problems inherent in Plotinus' beautiful but somehow futile scheme.

- Your Highlight at location 3036-3039 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 08:16:28

Since every embodied soul forgets, to a greater or lesser extent, its origin in the Divine Realm, the drama of return consists of three phases: the cultivation of Virtue, which reminds the soul of the divine Beauty; the exercise of the Dialectic, which instructs or informs the soul concerning its

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

origins and the true nature of existence; and finally, Contemplation, which is the proper mode of existence of the soul.

- Your Highlight at location 3091-3101 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 08:19:20

Plotinus had a much less grand idea of the dialectic than Hegel. For Plotinus, the dialectic was about revealing the true nature of the cosmos, which was already perfect at its highest level. For Hegel, everything is evolving dialectically, including the “highest level” of the cosmos and existence. With Plotinus, “God” does not evolve: it is our task to use the dialectic to approach him. With Hegel, God evolves, we evolve, everything evolves, and the highest point of existence—the Omega Point—is yet to be attained. The Hegelian dialectic doesn’t just reveal the true nature of things, but actually creates the final truth, the absolute perfection of the cosmos, the actualization of all the initial potential of existence. It is Hegel’s that is the true dialectic and the one endorsed by the Illuminati.

- Your Highlight at location 3161-3163 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 08:25:23

The question of whether we have an eternal individual Form is the one that determines what happens to us when we die. If we have no essential Form, then we are gone for good. If we do have an individual Form then we simply return to it.

- Your Highlight at location 3453-3466 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:20:20

The concept of Brahman in Hinduism is essentially the God of the  $r = 0$  domain in Illuminism. The Hindu concept of Atman, the human soul and Self that can enter into union with Brahman, the Divine Soul, is fully compatible with Illuminism. A cycle of birth, death and rebirth, until enlightenment is attained, is also fully compatible with Illuminism. The Hindu concepts of karma and the caste system are, however, explicitly rejected by Illuminism. Also, Maya, the idea that the physical universe ( $r > 0$ ) is an illusion is rejected. The physical world is, of course, completely real. It may be judged inferior to  $r = 0$ , but in fact it is essential to the dialectical evolution of  $r = 0$ , and it should never be relegated to the status of a bizarre delusion.  $R \geq 0$  is the truth of existence, not  $r = 0$  or  $r > 0$ . Both aspects of the universe are critical, indispensable and dialectically hard-wired. The notion of physical existence being an illusion, implying that all of our suffering in the world is also just an illusion, is, frankly, absurd and grotesque and makes a mockery of human pain and distress.

- Your Highlight at location 3474-3478 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:20:40

Buddhism, like Hinduism, is highly compatible with Illuminism, but Illuminism rejects the Buddhist concept of karma, the Buddhist treatment of the physical world as illusory and the Buddhist denial of the Self.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Illuminism rejects the nihilistic renunciation of life that is often associated with Buddhism. It rejects the Buddhist suggestion that life is imbued with suffering caused by desire.

- Your Highlight at location 3484-3490 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:24:43

Catholicism is a fascinating amalgam of Mithraism, Platonism, Neoplatonism and Aristotelian thinking superimposed on the ridiculous Bible of the Jewish triad of Yahweh, Moses and Yehoshua ben Yosef. If Catholicism jettisoned the Jewish influence and replaced Jesus the Christ with Simon Magus, it would be well on its way to becoming one with Illuminism. The Illuminati have always wanted to infiltrate Catholicism and take it over from within, turning it towards the light at long last. The Illuminati established the Jesuit Order for precisely this purpose, but it was another initiative that, like Freemasonry, met with considerable success before going into a sharp and disastrous reverse.

- Your Highlight at location 3510-3523 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:27:24

Illuminism is a very broad church. It openly encourages the “old” religions. It wishes people to be able to worship the gods of Egypt, Mithraism, the gods of Mount Olympus, Orphism, the rites of Dionysus, Stoicism, Hermeticism, Alchemy, white witchcraft and magic, Norse and Celtic gods, Persian and Babylonian gods, native American and Australian gods, Aztec gods (without human sacrifice!), Central American, South American, Asian, Middle Eastern and African gods...all manner of worldwide pagan gods. Let them all come back from the dead. These religions, along with Illuminism, can introduce an entirely new spiritual upwelling in our materialistic world. We can have exciting new cultures, freed from the deadly embrace of the mainstream religions of control. The world can be full of colour and joy, full of people practising whatever religion most appeals to them without any fear. Ideally, everyone on earth would choose two religions: Illuminism as a global religion, as well as their own favourite local religion that embraces the history of their nation, race or culture. There would be no dogmatism or fanaticism such as we see from the evil faiths of Abraham that have been such a blight on humanity

- Your Highlight at location 3536-3550 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:31:04

Illuminism is a religion of becoming. It is dialectical. It grows, develops and evolves as humanity grows, develops and evolves. It is never stuck in the past or frozen in time. It requires no fanatical beliefs. It has no sacred scriptures that must be unquestioningly obeyed. It has revered thinkers but no holy prophets. It is a thinking religion for thinking people, a religion of knowledge rather than of faith. No one has to go to church or pray. No one controls anyone else. No one demands anything of anyone else. No one

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

bows or kneels. No one pays tithes. There is no formal priesthood. It is nothing like other religions. The world, if it were to embrace Illumination, would be transformed overnight.

- Your Highlight at location 3560-3574 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:32:35

Think for yourself. Save yourself. Enlighten yourself. Let no one control you. Your salvation is your business, not anyone else's. It's up to you to make contact with the divine order. It's up to you to become God. No one else can do it for you. You can be everything you want to be if you put in the effort. No one says it will be easy. Why should it be? Why should it not be the most difficult and challenging task of all? After all, how can becoming God ever be anything other than the hardest accomplishment humanly conceivable? But isn't that precisely what makes it so glorious; the supreme endeavour, the ultimate quest, the final and surest meaning of life, of existence itself? That is why the Holy Grail is the most sought-after object of all.

- Your Highlight at location 3698-3701 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 09:39:47

It was said that the Phoenix could take the form of a human, but such a human as to resemble an angel of light. Lucifer himself was often depicted as Phoenix. The Phosters—the Illuminators—wear an emblem of a Phoenix blazing with light and fire.

- Your Highlight at location 3850-3854 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 13:36:16

The subject he was interested in above all others was that of the Phosters—a mysterious group of individuals who were said to have been sent from the heavens to guide humanity towards the divine light. They were reputed to appear to only the most worthy human beings, and to have secret knowledge without limit, founded primarily on mathematics. They were able to see “things” as numbers, it was said, and to understand the precise equations that linked everything.

- Your Highlight at location 3908-3909 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 13:44:07

Pythagoras left Samos and made his way to the Greek colony at Croton in southern Italy—famous for its knowledge of medicine—where a group of Illuminists who had found a benign home there begged him to join them.

- Your Highlight at location 3919-3921 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 13:44:43

At Croton, he created the Illuminati as a formal secret society, with himself as its first Grand Master, and with a specific mission to make themselves worthy of the Phosters, from whom they would surely learn the final secrets of existence. Under his stewardship, the Illuminati became the precursor and template of all future secret societies.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 3926-3930 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 13:46:48

The great Solomon, famed for his wisdom, was no worshipper of the monstrous God of the fanatical Jewish priesthood. One of the biggest lies in history was that the Temple of Solomon was built to honour Yahweh. In fact, it was dedicated to Sophia, goddess of wisdom, as was entirely fitting.

- Your Bookmark at location 3963 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 13:55:24

- Your Highlight at location 4153-4162 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 14:11:12

The idea of elites, divorced from the needs and wants of the people and acting in their own interests, is anathema. Crowdsourcing and meritocracy, working in a continual feedback loop, can provide the engine to take humanity to the next stage of its evolution. The people should be working in partnership with government. They should not be passive recipients of diktats from on high, from a remote government of the privileged elite. Citizens must be active in the moulding of the state, contributing at every level. Government and the people should be hardwired together: there should be no possibility of the government not representing the people's interests. Any government that is not deemed by the people to be representing the General Will of the people is a tyranny, reflecting only the particular wills of the ruling elite.

- Your Highlight at location 4477-4481 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 14:57:12

The Gracchus brothers, Tiberius and Gaius, were the first prominent Romans to be recruited by the Illuminati, and, as Latin speakers, were the first to actually use the term "Illuminati". As the star of Rome ascended and Latin became the language of Europe, this became the permanent name of the secret society.

- Your Highlight at location 4715-4717 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 15:14:27

Weishaupt's stance remains very controversial within the Illuminati. Some have argued that he went too far. Others, that the Elite had to be taught a lesson they would never forget.

- Your Highlight at location 4984-4992 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 15:32:03

3) No money—advanced technology meets all needs—Star Trek and the Venus Project. 4) Meritocracy—aspires towards 3), but in the meantime it is a hybrid of communism and capitalism: most people are paid roughly the same; the highest achievers get a healthy amount extra, but their earnings are capped to prevent them from becoming overly financially powerful and being able to use money as a weapon, and all of their money is returned to the Commonwealth at death.

- Your Highlight at location 5004-5011 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 15:32:45

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The Elite despise the Illuminati for one reason above all others—that, in the name of meritocracy and equal opportunities for all, the Illuminati seek to permanently deprive them of their private wealth, by which they have always controlled the world. This issue of private wealth is the crux of economics and politics. It is the core of the struggle between the Old World Order and the New World Order. The Old World Order = enormous private wealth in the hands of the few. The New World Order = the Commonwealth in the hands of the many.

- Your Highlight at location 5016-5018 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 15:33:20

Adam Weishaupt called for the total eradication of Elite families. That can be achieved by removing all of their private wealth via 100% inheritance tax.

- Your Highlight at location 5191-5195 | Added on Wednesday, 15 May 2024 15:39:26

The Meritocracy Party is The Movement's political wing. The R-Faction is The Movement's activist wing. Prognosis Entertainment is The Movement's creative wing.

Abraxas: Beyond Good and Evil (The Divine Series, #10) (Michael Faust)

- Your Highlight at location 202-338 | Added on Thursday, 16 May 2024 19:33:58

The Western religions assert that there is an all-knowing, all-seeing, all-powerful being—God—that exists outside space, time and the cosmos. This being has always existed and will always exist. He is infinitely perfect. He is incapable of error. He can commit no evil. He is the maximum expression of any conceivable possibility of excellence. He is entirely self-sufficient and flawless. He needs nothing. He is not dependent on anything. He stands outside the universe. The universe is his creation, but he is not part of it. It is not of the same substance as God. He could end the universe at any time of his choosing, but he himself would not thereby come to an end. God and the universe are, in this view, eternally distinct and separate. God, not the universe, is the supreme mystery. The universe is completely explicable in terms of God, but completely inexplicable if we understand nothing of the thinking, modus operandi and plan of God. He is beyond any scientific or philosophical analysis as to his substance, origins and evolution. He just IS. He is the ultimate “brute fact” of existence. We just have to accept that existence at its most fundamental level is eternal perfection in the shape of a flawless being of infinite knowledge, power and capacity. There’s no point, say the Abrahamists, in asking WHY? The starting point of existence is PERFECTION, hence cannot improve, cannot get any better—yet the obvious fact of our lives on earth is that imperfection is everywhere. How can this discrepancy be accounted for? Why is the starting point of existence not IMPERFECTION that then evolves towards perfection? Then we would have no difficulty in explaining the imperfections of this world. But such questions are neither answered nor permitted by Abrahamists. Now, if the universe consisted of the sun, the earth, the sky, the moon and nothing else then it would indeed seem as if the universe were created. But the universe is large beyond imagining, so large that there is no way experimentally for us to know whether or not it is infinite. What, exactly, is the function served by a universe so vast that almost all of it will never be seen or known by us? Why would God create anything so spectacularly unnecessary? If it’s not unnecessary then what purpose is it serving? Plainly, it cannot be a purpose that has any connection with humanity since it is far beyond any possibility of human contact or direct knowledge. Indeed, the humans of two thousand years ago had no knowledge whatever of galaxies beyond ours. So humanity is therefore not “special”. No Abrahamist has ever attempted to answer these basic questions. They are simply ignored along with all of the other “inconvenient” questions. There was a time when the Catholic Church actually killed people who dared to deny that the earth was the centre of the universe or who claimed that the universe was infinite. The Church rightly saw how deadly these ideas were to the “truth” of the Bible. Rather than debate the evidence and analyse the logic, the

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Church preferred to eliminate the opposition, like some sort of ancient, murderous Mafia. “It’s not personal, just business”—the business of keeping the Church in existence. What the Church refused to confront was that if the earth is the centre of the cosmos, why is anything else needed? Indeed why is a moon needed, or a sun? Why not just the earth, and nothing else? Why darkness and light? Why not permanent light? If God, the Creator, can do anything he likes, why did he create something that doesn’t look anything like a designed Creation? That, instead, looks like the outcome of natural processes involving an infinite profusion of energy and matter? A universe that consisted of nothing but a flat earth inhabited by a few thousand people would qualify as an unambiguous creation. An infinitely large universe full of countless stars and planets, almost all of them hidden forever from humanity, might be considered proof that there is no Abrahamic God because the human race has no conceivable importance in such a universe: it is but an infinitely small speck of dust. There would be no conceivable reason for the “Son of God” or any Messiah, prophet or angel to visit the earth, since earth would simply be one of an infinite number of worlds. Infinity kills the Abrahamic God stone dead because it reduces the apparent significance of the human race and the planet Earth to zero. There is no possible reason why a Creator God would create an infinite number of something when he could create just one of that thing. Why have infinite stars rather than one? Why have infinite planets rather than one? If YOU were the Creator, would you create one thing on which you lavished all of your attention, and which would be infinitely special to you, or would you create an infinite number of things, thereby making each of them devoid of any special significance? Abrahamists act as if earth were the only planet in the universe, and the sun the only star. In fact, modern astronomy has taken pictures of stars almost incomprehensibly far away from us, and there is no reason to consider that there aren’t an infinite number beyond those. Only the insane would conclude that earth was the focus of the universe and the Creator. There isn’t any evidence to support such a conclusion. It all points the other way. Galileo was put on trial by the Roman Catholic Inquisition because the Church understood all too well that to prove that the earth wasn’t the fixed, stationary centre of the universe was to prove that the Creator God didn’t exist. A Creator God puts his creation in the centre, as his jewel. He does not make it a hurtling rock in an inconsequential solar system in a nondescript quadrant of an unexceptional galaxy in an infinitely large cosmos. He does not populate the universe with black holes and supermassive black holes, with dark matter and dark energy, with quantum vacuum fluctuations. What possible function do these serve in respect of the Created Earth, God’s infinitely special treasure on which his attention is always focused? NONE AT ALL. The Abrahamists say that God is watching all of us—that he has a special relationship with each and every one of us, that he is a personal God of salvation. The Jews say that they are God's specially chosen people and that he has promised them a Messiah. The Christians say that God sent his own Son to atone for our sins. The Muslims say that God wrote the Koran for us and delivered it via the Angel Gabriel to an illiterate desert tribesman called Mohammed. None of this would make one particle of sense if the cosmos were infinitely large. If you are an Abrahamist, you are logically obliged to reject science in every regard. You believe in a God who stands outside the universe, who has a personal relationship with you (you can pray to him and he may directly intervene in your life), who sends bearded prophets and holy books, angels and saints. He performs miracles, loves martyrs, sacrifices his Son for us (from the Christian perspective). Sadly, he doesn't stop evil, and doesn't seem to be able to communicate his message very well. Which is his true Holy Book—the Torah, the Bible or the Koran? Who is his prophet? Moses, Jesus or Mohammed? If Jesus is his Son, why do the Jews and Muslims reject Jesus? Who are the Chosen People—the Jews, the Christians or the Muslims? Why do the Muslim Abrahamists think that the other Abrahamists are going to hell? Why do the Christian Abrahamists think that the other Abrahamists are going to hell? Why do the Jews still think that only they will be saved? Why do Catholic Christians think that Protestant Christians are going to hell? Why do Protestant Christians call the Pope the Antichrist? And why does no Eastern religion buy into any of this? Does Abrahamism make any sense at all? Is the human race, or a huge part of it, mad? Is the planet Earth a cosmic lunatic asylum? Is it hell? Are human beings crazy fantasists who are prepared to believe anything? It seems that for something to be impossibly far-fetched is no disqualification: it is mandatory. Are human beings so badly brainwashed and mind controlled that they will subscribe to any irrational, laughable garbage formulated by any charismatic psychopath or nutter? Can people convince themselves of anything at all, without limit, even to the extent of thinking that GOD, the infinitely perfect and powerful Creator, was born of a human virgin in a stable in a dusty, insignificant part of an ancient Empire and crucified to death 2,000 years ago? GOD DIED FOR YOU AND ME (supposedly). Who asked him to? No one did. Why did he do it? Because someone ate an apple despite being told not to!!!!!! And apparently that means that the whole human race is permanently and ineradicably stained with evil and deserves to be punished FOREVER by this God, who apparently loves us and bends over backwards to be merciful and forgiving. (So why didn't he just go right ahead and forgive us for "Applegate"??!!) AND PEOPLE ACTUALLY BELIEVE THIS INSANE CRAP!!! BILLIONS OF THEM. THEY WILL KILL YOU IN THE NAME OF THIS INCREDIBLE BULLSHIT. THIS HEAP OF FUCKING LUNACY WITHOUT LIMIT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN THEIR LIVES. That's the world we live in. A MADHOUSE. That's Abrahamism for you.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 837-842 | Added on Thursday, 16 May 2024 20:14:57

Is there the possibility of a narrative that can actually deliver paradise on earth, and a vastly superior and more enlightened human race? The answer is yes. And it lies in the Western religions that were consigned to oblivion by Abrahamism. These were: the mystery religions of ancient Greece, the mystery schools, esotericism, Dionysianism, Orphism, Mithraism, Hermeticism, Alchemy, Gnosticism, Catharism, Templarism, Rosicrucianism and all initiatory religions and secret societies.

- Your Highlight at location 1190-1193 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:07:16

It is space and time, dimensionality itself, that breaks the One into the Many, that creates individual things and locates them in precise places in space and time. Individuation is the consequence of dimensionality, and dimensionality is what takes place when the Oneness (God) alienates itself in Nature.

- Your Highlight at location 1261-1266 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:17:35

The One-Many synthesis is precisely the objective of the Meritocratic Republic. The State, as an embodiment of the General Will, should, first and foremost, serve the best interests of ALL of its citizens, and it does so by seeking to maximise individual satisfaction, self-fulfilment and self-actualisation. The optimal society, the Smart Society, is the one in which ALL of its citizens are self-actualised. Any society in which that is not true is sub-optimal, hence inadequate.

- Your Highlight at location 1295-1319 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:21:03

Here is the highest wisdom: THESIS: LUCIFER—GOOD . Antithesis: Satan—EVIL. Synthesis: Abraxas—BEYOND GOOD AND EVIL! Abraxas, unlike Lucifer, completely understands evil and individuation, but he also understands the Oneness. Lucifer is limited because he is obsessed with Oneness and understands only that aspect of existence. Satan is the opposite and understands only individuation and separation. Abraxas is the True God who understands EVERYTHING, who is not limited by any partisan, restricted view. Evil is dialectically compulsory. Lucifer thinks it should be abolished entirely, hence fails to understand its dialectical necessity. Likewise, Satan wants to abolish the One (the union of all beings as equals), so that he can stand as the eternal ruler of the Many. Inequality is what he seeks, with himself as the First amongst the Unequals. Only Abraxas truly comprehends the dialectic. So, the final dialectic progression is this: Thesis: The One = the Good = Light = Lucifer. Antithesis: The Many = Evil = Darkness = Satan. Synthesis: The One-Many = Beyond Good and Evil = Light and Darkness = the dialectical Omega Point = Abraxas, the completion of cosmic

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

evolution, the apex of existence, the maximum actualisation of the original cosmic potential, the attainment of Absolute Freedom and Knowledge.

- Your Highlight at location 1343-1352 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:26:24

The political dialectic of freedom is all about creating the optimal conditions for the interaction of the One and the Many. The State is the One; the citizens are the Many. What is the best way of defining the relationship of the citizen to the State? That is the question that all the political systems of history have addressed in one way or another, and inadequately thus far. The Meritocratic Republic is the end of the line. In such a republic, the One and the Many are finally harmonised as the One-Many where no citizen would ever think the State was acting against his interests, and the State would know that every citizen was contributing in the optimal way to the never-ending improvement of the State, until the Society of the Divine, the Community of Gods is achieved... and humanity can unite en masse with Abraxas, the True God.

- Your Highlight at location 1362-1367 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:27:35

Abrahamists with their obsession with sin and their fanatical desire to eradicate it have made themselves psychological nutcases capable of acts such as the Crusades, the Inquisition and 9/11. In the name of cleansing the world of sin, they have committed every sin imaginable. That is what inevitably happens when you try to destroy yin or yang. The whole point of the Gnostic idea of Sin for Salvation is to restore balance in a sensible, controlled way, to make people psychologically healthy.

- Your Highlight at location 1380-1399 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:35:03

When viewed rationally and dialectically, the “problems” of good and evil, the One and the Many dissolve. Illumination provides a complete and comprehensive answer to why evil exists. Evil is indissolubly linked to the concept of individuation and the Many. Good on the other hand is bound forever to the concept of the One. The One would never do evil to itself. Evil is something that is done to OTHERS, hence evil is a consequence of the existence of others i.e. it is a function of the Many. And it is a dialectical necessity. We only come to understand the One via Otherness. We only come to understand Good through the evil we do to others, and that we see others perpetrating against others. But we do evil above all because we tune into that cosmic source of evil—Satan—and his message of selfishness, vanity, self-love, status, fuck others, look after No. 1, make others worship you, power, money, greed, hate, violence, deceit. These are all the ways by which one of the many can place himself above the many, and emulate Satan. To think you deserve more than others is, ultimately, to think you are a god over them (and is to misunderstand and abuse the drive everyone feels to “become God”). The Old World Order believe themselves the gods of this world, and that we should all worship them, and indeed many of us do. But our dialectical task is to overthrow them, create a Meritocratic Republic and finally be free of evil.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 1441-1446 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:37:11

Abraxas is the First Amongst Equals. Abraxas is not worshipped by the Illuminati for the simple reason that no one would ever worship an equal. And why would you want to worship anyone anyway? Abraxas is our Guide, our Light, our Exemplar, our Mentor, our Guardian. We esteem him, we do not worship him.

- Your Highlight at location 1525-1535 | Added on Friday, 17 May 2024 21:51:15

So, Illuminism provides a precise account of the dialectical inevitability of evil. Evil is what emerges as soon as you define those around you as Other that must be fought to prevent them from being a threat to you. Look at the history of the world and you will see that it is nothing but the tale of the Other. What do the Jews call themselves?—the Chosen People—meaning that everyone else is Other. The Nazi “Master Race” regarded all non-Aryans as Other. Muslims regard all infidels as Other. Christians think they are the Elect and non-Christians are damned—the Other. All conflicts are about the phenomenon of the Other, about an existential inability to see that we are all the same and ought to all be helping each other.

- Your Highlight at location 1562-1572 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 07:31:06

In this world, the Old World Order—the masters—are the personalisations of the Satanic aspect of the master-slave dialectic. The Old World Order are not abstractions or metaphors or allegories or philosophical or psychological principles. They are real people walking around our world right now. By exactly the same token, Satan is no fantasy figure. He is a real person existing in the cosmos just as the OWO exist on our earth. Evil is a real thing, a real presence, a real consciousness, an active force in our world. It is not imaginary or illusory or the product of ignorance. It is the product of dialectical will, and we are all expressions of that will and we all have to decide where we stand with regard to evil.

- Your Highlight at location 1611-1616 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 07:33:52

Evil people care nothing for community. They are only interested in themselves and their family, and the rest of the world can go screw itself. “What has the world ever done for me?” these people ask. They have no concept of helping others and thereby helping themselves. Such a thought is literally unthinkable for them.

- Your Highlight at location 1669-1685 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 07:38:25

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Billions worship Satan and imagine they are worshipping God. Billions are evil because they'd do anything to help their family even if it meant trampling the rest of the world into the dirt. Nearly everyone reading this article comes from an affluent, wealthy, Western nation. If, for even a second, they glimpsed the lives of the billions who live on a dollar a day they would feel sick to the pit of their stomach if they had a single particle of decency and consideration for others. But we who live in comfortable countries couldn't give a fuck. So are we not evil? Who are we kidding to call ourselves good? There is virtually no one on earth who is good. But at least the Illuminati acknowledge the problem and seek to address it. All of the people who say, "Me, me, me," all the time, and all the families that say, "Family first; Family right or wrong," aren't thinking about this issue for a second. The family is an evil unit on which to base society. It's far too selfish. A properly functioning society must be based on community, not family. A community is not defined by "blood" hence avoids that pernicious self-absorption, disregard for others and ruthless nepotism that characterizes family.

- Your Highlight at location 1698-1707 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 07:42:56

People are corrupted by the ways in which they are raised. So it's crucial to raise them differently. And that means by attacking the ultimate sacred cow—the hegemony of the family. The power of the family suits one particular group in particular—the Old World Order, the global network of powerful, dynastic families that rules the world. Family is their essence, just as it is for the Mafia. Communities would spell the end for them, so they will do everything to prevent the rise of communitarianism. The Old World Order and their fellow travellers will protect the family to the death, because it is the entire basis of their power. So, whose side are you on?

- Your Highlight at location 1768-1775 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 07:58:51

The Golden Rule of being good can be formulated as, "Do as you would be done by" or, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" or, "Love your neighbour as yourself." And how many people do you see doing any of that? Does any billionaire do it? Isn't about time that the Golden Rule was enshrined in law? In fact, as the number one item in the Constitution? Imagine what a constitution would be like if all of its declarations about the nature of the State flowed from the Golden Rule and from that alone.

- Your Highlight at location 1814-1819 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 08:02:21

The Old World Order, the Randists, the libertarians, corporate America, the Zionist bankers and the Tea Party are the sworn enemies of the Golden Rule and will oppose it to the death. These people are the most evil on earth. In effect, Rand tried to define evil as the greatest good! She was an utterly wicked and Satanic woman. Contrast her with Hypatia, a Grand Master of the Illuminati and a genuinely great and good woman.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 1918-1925 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 08:11:15

Ultra capitalists and Randist libertarians revere the “market” as some quasi-religious, mystical force that cures every problem. They say that no one can “buck the market.” In fact the market is nothing but a reflection of Id psychology, driven by short-term pleasure seeking (the pursuit of “fast cash”), instant-gratification (short-term profit over long-term investment), presents (bonuses), golden handshakes, golden handcuffs, golden parachutes, golden goodbyes, massive expense accounts etc. It is driven upwards by greed and downwards by fear. It is based on impulse, basic instincts and desire, not reason or logic.

- Your Highlight at location 2047-2051 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:16:51

Judaism, Islam and Christianity all preach “moral goodness” and yet all they ever achieve is sin, crime and violence. These are the inevitable dialectical products of these mentally unstable religions. Religion, it cannot be stressed enough, is not about moral goodness, but rational balance. “Sin for Salvation” is Illuminism’s means for maintaining psychological health by allowing “sinful” pleasures to be expressed.

- Your Highlight at location 2078-2088 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:21:23

Apotheosis plays the central role in secret societies, but it’s not the answer to the “big secret”. It’s no more of a secret than the Hindu teaching that atman = Brahman. The notion of becoming God might indeed seem shocking to Christians, Muslims and Jews, and it may not be a well-publicised idea in the West, but it’s no secret. The concept of human apotheosis highlights the extreme difference between “mystery” religion and revealed religion (such as Christianity, Islam and Judaism). The followers of the former seek it while those of the latter regard it as heretical, blasphemous and “evil”. It marks the dividing line between the two different views of the world of enlightenment and Abrahamism. The big secrets actually relate to HOW to achieve apotheosis and what is revealed when apotheosis is accomplished—when the quest for the Grail is complete.

- Your Highlight at location 2103-2104 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:23:32

Most modern Masons have virtually no idea of the history of “their” organisation. You will hear contemporary Masons talking about respecting all religions.

- Your Highlight at location 2122-2126 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:24:57

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

The Ancient Mysteries, the religions of Enlightenment, are all about man becoming God, while the Abrahamic religions are about the infinite separation between man and God. These two views of religion are absolutely and eternally opposed. They are irreconcilable in every way. One view is aligned with the True God, the other with Satan.

- Your Highlight at location 2141-2156 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:27:47

Freemasonry was the organisation that rose like the Phoenix from the ashes of the Knights Templar. The Templars were Gnostics. Many of those who joined the Templars came from the Cathar families of France. Catholicism put Catharism to the sword. Catholicism declared the Templars heretical. The Pope banned any Catholic from joining the Masons. The idea that Masons would ever have revered the Christian Bible is too ridiculous for words. All Templar knights had to explicitly renounce the Jesus Christ of Christianity, to trample on the cross and spit on it to show their contempt for it. And they had other ceremonies where they equally demonstrated their rejection of the Torah and the Koran. The Cathars, and other Gnostic sects, are sometimes described as Christian, which leads to considerable confusion. To be clear, no Gnostic ever regarded Christ as somebody who was born of a virgin and died on a cross. No Gnostic ever regarded Christ as man and God in one person. No Gnostic ever thought that God became incarnate on earth.

- Your Highlight at location 2161-2171 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:29:48

The Christian Christ and the Gnostic Christ are theologically almost opposite. When the Cathars and Templars described themselves as “Christian” and swore their devotion to Christ, they did so entirely genuinely—which was why it took the Catholic Church so long to realise the nature of the threat posed by the Templars. The Templars, in truth, regarded Christ as Lucifer, the Angel of Light and Son of the True God. To the Templars, the Christian definition of Jesus was an obscenity. The original Freemasons, as the inheritors of the Templar banner and ethos, performed many of the same ceremonies as the Templars, including spitting and trampling on the cross and renouncing Jesus. Any modern Freemason who fails to do so is no Mason at all, but someone who is entirely ignorant about authentic Freemasonry.

- Your Highlight at location 2193-2198 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:32:18

Original Freemasonry was directly opposed to the Abrahamic religions. It was not some sort of bland “respect all religions” organisation. It was central to the corruption of Freemasonry by the Old World Order that Masons abandoned their fight against Abrahamism and allowed many

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Christians, Jews and even Muslims to be admitted to the ranks of Masons. Freemasonry has become a parody of its origins, an embarrassing mockery.

- Your Highlight at location 2218-2226 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:33:51

True Freemasonry was never religiously “neutral”. It always made a choice and that choice was to reject Abrahamism (the religion of bodily resurrection) as the work of the Devil. The highest degrees of Freemasonry were all concerned with the project of becoming God. As such, Jews, Muslims and Christians would have considered the Masons heretical and blasphemous. In modern Freemasonry, the highest degrees are manufactured by the Old World Order and are all about gaining and sustaining earthly power and wealth, accompanied by some fake ancient knowledge and pseudo-mysterious ceremonies and rituals. They have nothing at all in common with the authentic Masonic degrees.

- Your Highlight at location 2270-2275 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:36:42

God is either 1) a perfect being that creates everything else or 2) the cosmic essence or cosmic consciousness from which everything issues and to which everything returns or 3) the apex of the evolution of the cosmic essence/consciousness (which is an evolutionary version of option 2). Abrahamism goes with option 1), Eastern and Western enlightenment religions with option 2) and Illuminism is the only one that explicitly advocates option 3). As for the soul, it is either a) created or b) as old as existence itself.

- Your Highlight at location 2276-2294 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:37:57

If a soul is created, its fate is entirely dependent on its creator. There is no concept of the evolution of the soul. The soul’s purpose is to completely submit to its Creator. This view of the soul is obsessed with the soul’s sinfulness i.e. with its failure to fully obey the Will of God. If the soul is as old as existence, its fate is entirely within its own control. It’s all about the evolution of the soul. And when it reaches the point of enlightenment it becomes one with God. (No such thing is possible with a created soul.) With this view of the soul, the objective of the soul is to understand the true nature of things and thence to realise its divine nature. Abrahamism goes with option a) and all other religions with option b). Atheism says there is neither God nor soul. Agnosticism says that it impossible to decide if there is a God and soul or not. That’s it. That’s all there is. Those are your choices for how to live your life. It’s not complex. The central issues of religion can be described in a sentence or two.

- Your Highlight at location 2338-2341 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:40:07

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

We aspire to a society where there is no separation of hands, heads and hearts into competing factions. Each person should be a unity of head, heart and hands. We want a society of high IQs, high EQs (emotional intelligence) and of productive, satisfying, fulfilling work for everyone.

- Your Highlight at location 2477-2478 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:47:52

A Meritocratic Republic is undoubtedly the best system of governance that can be created in today's world while taking into account the flaws of human nature

- Your Highlight at location 2505-2510 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:49:36

Anarchy would be a viable system if people were naturally communitarian, cooperative, unselfish, altruistic, free of corruption, vices and criminality. Anarchy would be the logical answer in a world of angels, not in this world. Here, where the dark side of human nature thrives, the law of the jungle would come to the fore in the absence of government. The only law followed would be the most primitive Darwinism of the strong dominating the weak.

- Your Highlight at location 2550-2555 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:51:20

Communism is based on a noble idea, but is inherently flawed. This flaw is exactly what its greatest contribution is: Equality for all. The system would be amazing if everyone were honest and hardworking. Unfortunately, human nature doesn't work that way. Communism is such a delicate system that one dishonest or apathetic individual can ruin it.

- Your Highlight at location 2573-2575 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:53:37

Socialism provides for a "mixed" economy—the State controls a significant proportion of the economy while capitalism provides the remainder. In practice, socialism has proved disastrously inefficient and anti-competitive.

- Your Highlight at location 2627-2629 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:57:41

In the age of the Internet, the technology now exists for direct democracy, but, unsurprisingly, no so-called democratic politician has ever suggested implementing true people power. Which must surely raise the suspicion that they are not genuinely committed to democracy at all.

- Your Highlight at location 2639-2642 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 13:59:46

Many of the greatest thinkers of antiquity such as Plato and Aristotle were strenuously opposed to democracy. It has never been favoured by intellectuals who typically regard it as a dumbed-down, lowest common denominator ideology for hysterical, ill-educated mobs.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 2733-2742 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:06:56

This type of Republic is dedicated to ensuring that only those people that are qualified, or have earned a position, receive it. There is no patronage, favouritism, cronyism, nepotism, privilege or discrimination. Merit is the only criterion for success. There are no deals under the table, rigged cartels or means of corrupting the government. Government must be as transparent as possible. Just as justice should be done and be seen to be done, so should government. All of the financial dealings of the members of government, Congress and lobbyists should be a matter of public record.

- Your Highlight at location 2772-2782 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:08:49

The Meritocratic Republic is required to have a Social Contract with every citizen based on a Dialectical Constitution (i.e. one that moves with the times and seeks to get better and better according to a methodical process of repeated iterations of thesis, antithesis and synthesis). The Dialectical Constitution is protected by a Supreme Court of ten individuals, but they are not lawyers. They are people of the highest intellectual merit, the finest exponents of reason, logic and creativity: two mathematicians, two scientists, two psychologists, two philosophers and two artists. They are appointed by the People. Any change to the Constitution must be approved by a majority of the ten. A 5-5 deadlock results in no change.

- Your Bookmark at location 2783 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:09:50

- Your Highlight at location 2850-2853 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:15:26

For centuries, Catholic theologians declared that unbaptised babies that died at birth went straight to hell, or, at best, Limbo at the edge of hell. So, all of those children with the “right to life” also had the “right” to go to hell for eternity if not baptised as Catholics. Where’s the logic?

- Your Highlight at location 2863-2867 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:17:03

The Final War will be a religious war. The Jews, Christians and Muslims will fight to the death for the right to brainwash their children as they themselves were brainwashed when they were children. Humanity will never be free until the brainwashing of children is stopped forever.

- Your Highlight at location 2880-2886 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:18:33

Politicians talk of hope and change, but things never change and there is never any hope. You want real change? The only free future of the human race lies in the Meritocratic Republic. We swear this in the name of the highest freedom. We are The Plan. We are The Future. We are The Illuminati.

- Your Highlight at location 3055-3058 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:28:42

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

At least with karma, you are being held responsible for something you did in a past life. With Original Sin, you are being penalized for what others did that had absolutely nothing to do with you. So much for divine justice and fairness.

- Your Bookmark at location 3046 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:32:37

- Your Highlight at location 3226-3250 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 14:44:40

On a simplistic basis, it seems reasonable that in a system of reincarnation, you should be held accountable over a number of lifetimes for your good deeds and bad. But who is the Accountant of Sin? Who decides what is good and bad? If it is not a person, how does karma “know”? How does it judge? How does it keep track of trillions of living creatures? What is the mechanism for karma’s interaction with a specific person? How does it impart a karmic judgement on someone? How does it transmit a “bad” life to someone who was immoral in a previous life? How does it interact with someone’s DNA or their environment? Karma, regardless of what its advocates and apologists claim, makes no scientific or philosophical sense. Here’s the central problem with karmic thinking. If a close friend of yours announced that she had cancer, would you immediately conclude that she was being karmically “repaid” for some sin that she had committed in a previous life? If you said that to her, do you think you would remain friends? Similarly, if she won the lottery, would this be karmic good fortune? If you decided that karma wasn’t involved in these cases then how would you distinguish when karma is involved from when it isn’t? If you conclude that karma is always present then you would need some explanation for how this weird force called karma implants cancer cells in some people and rigs the lottery for others. What is the scientific mechanism? And how does karma decide what punishment or reward is appropriate? Are extremely rich, successful, selfish narcissists being karmically rewarded or karmically punished? Is an extremely happy person who is poor, mocked and reviled by everyone experiencing good karma or bad karma?

- Your Highlight at location 3269-3278 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 21:38:57

Easterners have avoided the absurd Abrahamic God, but they have never been able to build their religion on a mathematical and scientific platform. Their concept of karma is bizarre. Their idea that the cosmos operates at a profound level of illusion is equally bizarre. Why would it? Why would God/Nature seek to actively prevent people from “seeing” the truth? And why would God/Nature introduce samsara and karma as the mechanism to overcome the illusory nature of existence for which it was responsible in the first place? The premises of the Eastern religions are as flawed as those of the Abrahamic religions, just in a different way.

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

- Your Highlight at location 3619-3623 | Added on Saturday, 18 May 2024 23:16:32

Arche (formlessness) + mathematics (form) + dialectic (teleology) => God.
This is the divine equation. All of the mysteries of life are contained here.
This is the equation of the evolution of the cosmos from maximum potential to maximum actualization.

- Your Highlight at location 4322-4325 | Added on Tuesday, 21 May 2024 23:10:11

A Latin epigram of one of the sayings of Pythagoras is: Aut tace aut loquere meliora silentio, meaning “Either be silent or say something better than silence.”

Illuminism, Hyperianism & Ontological Mathematics
The Divine Series—My Notes & Clippings

Kabbalah, Hermeticism and M-theory (The Divine Series #11) by Michael Faust